Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the fund's operating expenses remain the same.

Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

UBS Prime Reserves Fund	$18	$58	$101	$230

Principal strategies

Principal investments

The fund is a money market fund and seeks to maintain a stable price of $1.00 per share. The fund seeks to achieve its objective by investing in a diversified portfolio of high quality money market instruments of governmental and private issuers. These may include:

- short-term obligations of the US government and its agencies and instrumentalities;
- repurchase agreements;
- obligations of issuers in the financial services group of industries;
- commercial paper, other corporate obligations and asset-backed securities; and
- municipal money market instruments.

Money market instruments generally are short-term debt obligations and similar securities. They also may include longer-term bonds that have variable interest rates or other special features that give them the financial characteristics of short-term debt. The fund invests in foreign money market instruments only if they are denominated in US dollars. The fund will, under normal circumstances, invest more than 25% of its total assets in the financial services group of industries.

The fund invests in securities through an underlying master fund. The fund and its corresponding master fund have the same objective. Unless otherwise indicated, references to the fund include the master fund.

The fund is a "retail money market fund," as such term is defined in the rule governing money market funds and related interpretations. "Retail money market funds" are money market funds that have policies and procedures reasonably designed to limit all beneficial owners of the fund to natural persons. As a "retail money market fund," the fund is permitted to seek to maintain a stable price per share.

Prior to October 2, 2023, the fund may be subject to the possible imposition of a liquidity fee and/or temporary redemption gate should certain triggering events occur. Effective October 2, 2023, the fund may no longer impose a redemption gate (except under extraordinary circumstances as part of a liquidation), and the fund may be subject to a liquidity fee if the fund's board believes such fee is in the best interests of the fund.

The fund is classified by UBS AM as an “ESG-integrated” fund. The fund’s investment process integrates material sustainability and/or environmental, social and governance (“ESG”) considerations into the research process for all portfolio investments and portfolio holdings, except repurchase agreements with certain counterparties. ESG integration is driven by taking into account material sustainability and/or ESG risks which could impact investment returns, rather than being driven by specific ethical principles or norms. The analysis of material sustainability and/or ESG considerations can include many different aspects, including, for example, the carbon footprint, employee health and well-being, supply chain management, fair customer treatment and governance processes of a company. The fund’s portfolio managers may still invest in securities without respect to sustainability and/or ESG considerations or in securities which present sustainability and/or ESG risks, including where the portfolio managers believe the potential compensation outweighs the risks identified.

Management process

UBS Asset Management (Americas) Inc. (“UBS AM”) acts as the investment advisor. As investment advisor, UBS AM makes the fund’s investment decisions. UBS AM selects money market instruments for the fund based on its assessment of relative values and changes in market and economic conditions. UBS AM considers safety of principal and liquidity in selecting securities for the fund and thus may not buy securities that pay the highest yield.

Principal risks

All investments carry a certain amount of risk, and the fund cannot guarantee that it will achieve its investment objective.

You could lose money by investing in the fund. Although the fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. The fund may impose a fee upon the sale of your shares under certain circumstances or, until October 2, 2023, may temporarily suspend your ability to sell shares if the fund’s liquidity falls below a required minimum because of market conditions or other factors. An investment in the fund is not a bank account and not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The fund’s sponsor is not required to reimburse the fund for losses, and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the fund at any time, including during periods of market stress.

Money market instruments generally have a low risk of loss, but they are not risk-free. The principal risks presented by an investment in the fund are:

Credit risk: Issuers of money market instruments or financial institutions that have entered into repurchase agreements with the fund may fail to make payments when due or complete transactions, or they may become less willing or less able to do so.

Interest rate risk: The value of the fund's investments generally will fall when interest rates rise, and its yield will tend to lag behind prevailing rates. The fund may face a heightened level of interest rate risk due to certain changes in general economic conditions, inflation and monetary policy, such as certain types of interest rate changes by the Federal Reserve.

Market risk: The risk that the market value of the fund's investments may fluctuate, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably, as the markets fluctuate, which may affect the fund's ability to maintain a $1.00 share price. Market risk may affect a single issuer, industry, or sector of the economy, or it may affect the market as a whole. Moreover, changing market, economic, political and social conditions in one country or geographic region could adversely impact market, economic, political and social conditions in other countries or regions.

Liquidity risk: Although the fund invests in a diversified portfolio of high quality instruments, the fund's investments may become less liquid as a result of market developments or adverse investor perception. If this happens, the fund's ability to redeem its shares for cash may be affected.

Management risk: The risk that the investment strategies, techniques and risk analyses employed by the advisor may not produce the desired results.

Concentration risk: The fund will invest a significant portion of its assets in securities issued by companies in the financial services group of industries, including US banking, non-US banking, broker-dealers, insurance companies, finance companies (e.g., automobile finance) and related asset-backed securities. Accordingly, the fund will be more susceptible to developments that affect those industries than other funds that do not concentrate their investments.

Financial services sector risk: Investments of the fund in the financial services sector may be particularly affected by economic cycles, business developments, interest rate changes and regulatory changes.

Asset-backed securities risk: The fund may purchase securities representing interests in underlying assets, but structured to provide certain advantages not inherent in those assets (e.g., enhanced liquidity and yields linked to short-term interest rates). If those securities behaved in a way that the advisor did not anticipate, or if the security structures encountered unexpected difficulties, the fund could suffer a loss. Structured securities represent a significant portion of the short-term securities markets.

US Government securities risk: There are different types of US government securities with different levels of credit risk, including the risk of default, depending on the nature of the particular government support for that security. For example, a US government-sponsored entity, such as Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae") or Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac"), although chartered or sponsored by an Act of Congress, may issue securities that are neither insured nor guaranteed by the US Treasury and are therefore riskier than those that are.

Repurchase agreements risk: Repurchase agreements carry certain risks not associated with direct investments in securities, including a possible decline in the market value of the underlying obligations. Repurchase agreements involving obligations other than US government securities (such as commercial paper, corporate bonds, mortgage loans and equities) may be subject to special risks and may not have the benefit of certain protections in the event of the counterparty's insolvency. If the seller or guarantor becomes insolvent, the fund may suffer delays, costs and possible losses in connection with the disposition of collateral.

Foreign investing risk: The value of the fund's investments in foreign securities may fall due to adverse political, social and economic developments abroad. However, because the fund's foreign investments must be denominated in US dollars, it generally is not subject to the risk of changes in currency valuations.

Municipal securities risk: Municipal securities are subject to interest rate and credit risks. The ability of a municipal issuer to make payments and the value of municipal securities can be affected by uncertainties in the municipal securities market. Such uncertainties could cause increased volatility in the municipal securities market and could negatively impact the fund's net asset value ("NAV") and/or the distributions paid by the fund. Municipalities continue to experience difficulties in the current economic and political environment.

Purchase & sale of fund shares

Investments in the fund are intended to be limited to accounts beneficially owned by natural persons, and the fund has adopted policies and procedures reasonably designed to limit all beneficial owners of the fund to natural persons. The fund reserves the right to repurchase shares in any account that are not beneficially owned by natural persons, after providing 60 days' written notice. If you are buying or selling fund shares directly, you may do so by calling the fund's transfer agent at 1-888-547 FUND. You may also buy and sell fund shares through financial intermediaries who are authorized to accept purchase and sales orders on behalf of the fund. This includes the ability to buy fund shares through a UBS Financial Services Inc. Financial Advisor using that firm's automated order entry system. The minimum investment level for initial purchases generally is $1,000,000. Initial purchases made through UBS Financial Services Inc. brokerage accounts, subsequent purchases, and purchases through exchanges are not subject to a minimum investment level. UBS Financial Services Inc. fee-based advisory programs are not eligible to make investments in the fund (with an exception for the normal month-end automatic reinvestment of dividends by existing shareholders). Shares of the fund may be redeemed in the same manner as they were purchased (i.e., directly or through a financial intermediary, including through UBS Financial Services Inc.'s automated order entry system). Shares can be purchased and redeemed on any business day on which the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the New York Stock Exchange and the principal bond markets (as recommended by the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association) are open.

Tax information

The dividends and distributions you receive from the fund are taxable and will generally be taxed as ordinary income, capital gains or some combination of both, unless you hold shares through a tax-exempt account or plan, such as an individual retirement account or 401(k) plan, in which case dividends and distributions on your shares generally will be taxed when withdrawn from the tax-exempt account or plan.

Payments to broker-dealers and other financial intermediaries

If you purchase the fund through a broker-dealer or other financial intermediary (such as a bank), UBS AM and/or its affiliates may pay the intermediary for the sale of fund shares and related services, or other shareholder services. These payments may create a conflict of interest by influencing the broker-dealer or other intermediary and your financial advisor to recommend the fund over another investment. Ask your financial advisor or visit your financial intermediary's website for more information.

Principal strategies

Principal investments

The fund is a money market fund and seeks to maintain a stable price of $1.00 per share. The fund seeks to achieve its objective by investing in a diversified portfolio of high quality, municipal money market instruments.

Under normal circumstances, the fund will invest at least 80% of its net assets (plus the amount of any borrowing for investment purposes) in investments, the income from which is exempt from federal income tax. Investments that are subject to the alternative minimum tax are not counted towards satisfying the 80% test in the foregoing sentence. Under normal circumstances, the fund may invest only up to 20% of its net assets in municipal securities that pay interest that is an item of tax preference for purposes of the alternative minimum tax.

Money market instruments generally are short-term debt obligations and similar securities. They also may include longer-term bonds that have variable interest rates or other special features that give them the financial characteristics of short-term debt.

The fund invests in securities through an underlying master fund. The fund and its corresponding master fund have the same objective. Unless otherwise indicated, references to the fund include the master fund.

The fund is a "retail money market fund," as such term is defined in the rule governing money market funds and related interpretations. "Retail money market funds" are money market funds that have policies and procedures reasonably designed to limit all beneficial owners of the fund to natural persons. Like all money market funds, each of the funds is subject to maturity, quality, diversification and liquidity requirements pursuant to Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("Rule 2a-7"), designed to help it maintain a stable price of $1.00 per share. Credit risk (Both funds). Credit risk is the risk that the issuer or guarantor of money market instruments, or the counterparty to a transaction, is unable or unwilling to meet its financial obligations. Even if an issuer or counterparty does not default on a payment, an investment's value may decline if the market believes that the issuer or counterparty has become less able, or less willing, to make payments on time. Moreover, in a rising interest rate environment, the risk that such issuer or guarantor may default on its obligations is heightened. Even the highest quality investments are subject to some credit risk. The credit quality of an issuer or counterparty can change rapidly due to market developments and may affect the fund's ability to maintain a $1.00 share price.

Interest rate risk (Both funds). The value of money market instruments generally can be expected to fall when short-term interest rates rise and to rise when short-term interest rates fall. Interest rate risk is the risk that interest rates will rise, so that the value of a fund's investments will fall. Also, a fund's yield will tend to lag behind changes in prevailing short-term interest rates. This means that a fund's income will tend to rise more slowly than increases in short-term interest rates. Similarly, when short-term interest rates are falling, a fund's income generally will tend to fall more slowly.

A fund may face a heightened level of interest rate risk due to certain changes in monetary policy, such as certain types of interest rate changes by the Federal Reserve. The risks associated with changing interest rates may have unpredictable effects on the markets and a fund's investments. A sudden or unpredictable increase in interest rates may cause volatility in the market and may decrease liquidity in the money market securities markets, making it harder for a fund to sell its money market investments at an advantageous time. Decreased market liquidity also may make it more difficult to value some or all of a fund's money market securities holdings.

Market risk (Both funds). The risk that the market value of a fund's investments will fluctuate as the stock and fixed-income markets fluctuate. Market risk may affect a single issuer, industry or sector of the economy, or it may affect the market as a whole. In addition, turbulence in financial markets and reduced liquidity in equity and/or fixed-income markets may negatively affect a fund. Global economies and financial markets are becoming increasingly interconnected, and conditions and events in one country, region or financial market may adversely impact issuers in a different country, region or financial market. Events such as war, acts of terrorism, natural disasters, recessions, rapid inflation, the imposition of international sanctions, pandemics or other public health threats could also significantly impact a fund and its investments. These risks may be magnified if certain events or developments adversely interrupt the global supply chain, and could affect companies worldwide.

Liquidity risk (Both funds). The funds' investments may become less liquid due to market developments or adverse investor perception. When there is no willing buyer and investments cannot be readily sold at the desired time or price, the funds may have to accept a lower price or may not be able to sell an instrument at all. The inability to sell an instrument could adversely affect a fund's ability to maintain a $1.00 share price or prevent the fund from being able to take advantage of other investment opportunities. This risk may increase during an unusually high volume of redemption requests by even a few large investors, unusual market conditions, or when prices of securities are negatively impacted by rapid or unexpected changes in interest rates, or as a result of government intervention, political, social, health, economic or market developments.

Management risk (Both funds). There is the risk that the investment strategies, techniques and risk analyses employed by the advisor may not produce the desired results. The advisor may be incorrect in its assessment of a particular security or assessment of market, interest rate or other trends, which can result in losses to a fund.

Concentration risk (UBS Prime Reserves Fund). UBS Prime Reserves Fund will invest a significant portion of its assets in securities issued by companies in the financial services group of industries, including US banking, non-US banking, broker-dealers, insurance companies, finance companies (e.g., automobile finance) and related asset-backed securities. As a result, UBS Prime Reserves Fund's performance will be significantly impacted, both positively and negatively, by developments in the financial services sector, and the fund will be more susceptible to such developments than other funds that do not concentrate their investments.

Financial services sector risk (Both funds).

Investments in the financial services sector may be particularly affected by economic cycles, business developments, interest rate changes and regulatory changes. For example, declining economic and business conditions can disproportionately impact companies in the financial services sector due to increased defaults on payments by borrowers. Interest rate increases can also adversely affect the financial services sector by increasing the cost of capital available for financial services companies. In addition, financial services companies are heavily regulated by governmental entities and, as a result, political and regulatory changes can affect the operations and financial results of such companies, potentially imposing additional costs and possibly restricting the businesses in which those companies may engage.

Asset-backed securities risk (UBS Prime Reserves Fund). The fund may purchase securities representing interests in underlying assets, but structured to provide certain advantages not inherent in those assets (e.g., enhanced liquidity and yields linked to short-term interest rates). If those securities behaved in a way that the advisor did not anticipate, or if the security structures encountered unexpected difficulties, the fund could suffer a loss. Structured securities represent a significant portion of the short-term securities markets.

US Government securities risk (UBS Prime Reserves Fund). Credit risk is the risk that the issuer will not make principal or interest payments when they are due. There are different types of US government securities with different relative levels of credit risk depending on the nature of the particular government support for that security. US government securities may be supported by (1) the full faith and credit of the US; (2) the ability of the issuer to borrow from the US Treasury; (3) the credit of the issuing agency, instrumentality or government-sponsored entity; (4) pools of assets (e.g., mortgage-backed securities); or (5) the US in some other way. In some cases, there is even the risk of default. For example, for asset-backed securities there is the risk those assets will decrease in value below the face value of the security. Similarly, for certain agency issued securities there is no guarantee the US government will support the agency if it is unable to meet its obligations. Further, the US government and its agencies and instrumentalities do not guarantee the market value of their securities; consequently, the value of such securities will fluctuate. This may be the case especially when there is any controversy or ongoing uncertainty regarding the status of negotiations in the US Congress to increase the statutory debt ceiling. If the US Congress is unable to negotiate an adjustment to the statutory debt ceiling, there is also the risk that the US government may default on payments on certain US government securities, including those held by the fund, which could have a material negative impact on the fund.

Repurchase agreements risk (UBS Prime Reserves Fund). Repurchase agreements carry certain risks not associated with direct investments in securities, including a possible decline in the market value of the underlying obligations. If their value becomes less than the repurchase price, plus any agreed-upon additional amount, the counterparty must provide additional collateral so that at all times the collateral is at least equal to the repurchase price plus any agreed-upon additional amount.

Repurchase agreements involving obligations other than US government securities (such as commercial paper, corporate bonds, mortgage loans and equities) may be subject to special risks and may not have the benefit of certain protections in the event of the counterparty's insolvency. If the seller or guarantor becomes insolvent, the fund may suffer delays, costs and possible losses in connection with the disposition of collateral.

Foreign investing risk (UBS Prime Reserves Fund). UBS Prime Reserves Fund may invest in foreign money market instruments that are denominated in US dollars. Foreign investing may involve risks relating to political, social and economic developments abroad, such as the imposition of international sanctions and other similar measures, to a greater extent than investing in the securities of US issuers. Foreign investments may also be subject to risk of loss because of more or less foreign government regulation, less public information and less stringent investor protections and disclosure standards. In addition, there are differences between US and foreign regulatory requirements and market practices.

Municipal securities risk (Both funds). Municipal securities are subject to interest rate, credit, illiquidity, market and political risks. The ability of a municipal issuer to make payments and the value of municipal securities can be affected by uncertainties in the municipal securities market, including litigation, the strength of the local or national economy, the issuer's ability to raise revenues through tax or other means, the bankruptcy of the issuer affecting the rights of municipal securities holders and budgetary constraints of local, state and federal governments upon which the issuer may be relying for funding. Municipal securities and issuers of municipal securities may be more susceptible to downgrade, default and bankruptcy during periods of economic stress. In addition, the municipal securities market can be significantly affected by political changes, including legislation or proposals at either the state or the federal level to eliminate or limit the tax-exempt status of municipal security interest or, with respect to UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund, the tax-exempt status of a fund's dividends. Similarly, reductions in tax rates may make municipal securities less attractive in comparison to taxable securities. Legislatures also may be unable or unwilling to appropriate funds needed to pay municipal security obligations. These events can cause the value of the municipal securities held by the fund to fall and, with respect to UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund, might adversely affect the tax-exempt status of a fund's investments or of the dividends that a fund pays. In addition, third-party credit quality or liquidity enhancements are frequently a characteristic of the structure of municipal securities purchased by money market funds. Problems encountered by such third-parties (such as issues negatively impacting a municipal security insurer or bank issuing a liquidity enhancement facility) may negatively impact a municipal security even though the related municipal issuer is not experiencing problems.

Additional (non-principal) risks

LIBOR replacement risk. Certain variable- and floating- rate debt securities that a fund may invest in are subject to rates that are or were previously tied to the London Interbank Offered Rate ("LIBOR"). LIBOR was a leading floating rate benchmark used in loans, notes, derivatives and other instruments or investments. As a result of benchmark reforms, publication of most LIBOR settings has ceased. Some LIBOR settings continue to be published, but only on a temporary, synthetic and non-representative basis. Regulated entities have generally ceased entering into new LIBOR contracts in connection with regulatory guidance or prohibitions. Replacement rates that have been identified include the Secured Overnight Financing Rate ("SOFR"), which is intended to replace US dollar LIBOR and measures the cost of overnight borrowings through repurchase agreement transactions collateralized with US Treasury securities, and the Sterling Overnight Index Average Rate ("SONIA"), which is intended to replace GBP LIBOR and measures the overnight interest rate paid by banks for unsecured transactions in the sterling market, although other replacement rates could be adopted by market participants. The unavailability or replacement of LIBOR may affect the value, liquidity or return on, and may cause increased volatility in markets for, certain fund investments and may result in costs incurred in connection with closing out positions and entering into new trades. Accordingly, the potential effect of the transition away from LIBOR on a fund or the debt securities or other instruments based on LIBOR in which a fund invests cannot yet be determined. Any pricing adjustments to a fund's investments resulting from a substitute reference rate may also adversely affect the fund's performance and/or net asset value. At this time, it is not possible to predict the effect of the establishment of SOFR, SONIA or any other replacement rates.

Political risk (UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund).

With respect to UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund, political or regulatory developments could adversely affect the tax-exempt status of interest paid on municipal securities or the tax-exempt status of a municipal money market fund's dividends. In addition, changes to policies regarding the funding of municipalities by local, state or federal governments could adversely affect the value of such municipal securities held by the fund. These developments could also cause the value of a fund's municipal money market instruments to fall.

Securities lending risk (Both funds). Securities lending involves the lending of portfolio securities owned by a fund to qualified broker-dealers and financial institutions. When lending portfolio securities, a fund initially will require the borrower to provide the fund with collateral, most commonly cash, which the fund will invest. Although a fund invests this collateral in a conservative manner, it is possible that it could lose money from such an investment or fail to earn sufficient income from its investment to cover the fee or rebate that it has agreed to pay the borrower. Loans of securities also involve a risk that the borrower may fail to return the securities or deliver the proper amount of collateral, which may result in a loss to a fund. In addition, in the event of bankruptcy of the borrower, a fund could experience losses or delays in recovering the loaned securities. In some cases, these risks may be mitigated by an indemnification provided by the funds' lending agent.

Structured security risk (UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund). The fund may purchase securities representing interests in underlying assets, but structured to provide certain advantages not inherent in those assets (e.g., enhanced liquidity and yields linked to short-term interest rates). If those securities behaved in a way that the advisor did not anticipate, or if the security structures encountered unexpected difficulties, the fund could suffer a loss. Structured securities represent a significant portion of the short-term securities markets.

Defensive positions for UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund. During adverse market conditions or when the advisor believes there is an insufficient supply of the municipal securities in which Tax-Free Master Fund primarily invests, the fund may temporarily invest in other types of municipal securities or may invest in money market instruments that pay taxable interest. These investments may not be consistent with achieving the fund's investment objective during the periods that they are held and may entail additional risks (such as those to which UBS Prime Reserves Fund is subject).

Cybersecurity risk (Both funds). The funds, like other business organizations, are susceptible to operational, information security and related risks through breaches in cybersecurity. In general, cybersecurity failures or breaches of a fund or its service providers or the issuers of securities in which a fund invests may result from deliberate attacks or unintentional events and may arise from external or internal sources. Cybersecurity breaches may involve unauthorized access to a fund's digital information systems (e.g., through "hacking" or malicious software coding), but may also result from outside attacks such as denial-of-service attacks (i.e., efforts to make network services unavailable to intended users). Cybersecurity failures or breaches affecting a fund's investment advisor or any other service providers (including, but not limited to, fund accountants, custodians, transfer agents and financial intermediaries) have the ability to cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses, interference with a fund's ability to calculate its net asset value, impediments to trading, the inability of fund shareholders to transact business, destruction to equipment and systems, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, and/or additional compliance costs. In addition, substantial costs may be incurred in order to prevent any cybersecurity breaches in the future.

Temporary and defensive positioning (Both funds). During adverse market conditions or when the advisor believes there is an insufficient supply of appropriate money market securities in which to invest, a fund may temporarily hold uninvested cash in lieu of such investments. UBS Prime Reserves Fund will, under normal circumstances invest more than 25% of its total assets in the financial services group of industries. UBS Prime Reserves Fund may, however, invest less than 25% of its total assets in this group of industries as a defensive measure. During periods when such temporary or defensive positions are held, a fund may not be able to fully pursue its investment objective. Such positions may also subject a fund to additional costs and risks, such as increased exposure to cash held at a custodian bank.

Managing your fund account

The following pages tell you how to buy, sell and exchange shares of each fund.

Investments in each fund are intended to be limited to accounts beneficially owned by natural persons. Natural persons may invest in the funds through certain tax-advantaged savings accounts, trusts and other retirement and investment accounts, which may include, among others: participant-directed defined contribution plans; individual retirement accounts; simplified employee pension arrangements; simple retirement accounts; custodial accounts; deferred compensation plans for government or tax-exempt organization employees; Archer medical savings accounts; college savings plans; health savings account plans; ordinary trusts and estates of natural persons; or certain other retirement and investment accounts having an institutional decision maker (e.g., a plan sponsor in certain retirement arrangements or an investment adviser managing discretionary investment accounts) with ultimate investment authority held by the natural person beneficial owner. (As noted under “Taxes” below, UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund is generally not an appropriate investment for tax-sheltered retirement plans and similar arrangements.) Each fund has adopted policies and procedures reasonably designed to limit all beneficial owners of the fund to natural persons. Each fund reserves the right to repurchase shares in any account that are not beneficially owned by natural persons, after providing sufficient notice.

Financial intermediaries may only submit purchase orders if they have implemented policies and procedures reasonably designed to limit all investors on behalf of whom they submit orders to accounts beneficially owned by natural persons. Financial intermediaries may be required by a fund or its principal underwriter/distributor to provide a written statement or other representation that they have in place, and operate in compliance with, such policies and procedures prior to submitting purchase orders. The funds reserve the right to redeem shares in any account that they cannot confirm to their satisfaction are beneficially owned by natural persons, after providing advance notice.

If, pursuant to authorization from the fund, a financial intermediary accepts trade orders on the fund’s behalf, upon the fund’s reasonable request, the financial intermediary is expected to promptly provide the fund or the principal underwriter/distributor with information regarding the timing of its acceptance of such trade orders for purposes of, among other things, validating which net asset value calculation should be applied to such trades and determining whether the orders preceded or followed the effective implementation time of a liquidity fee or redemption gate (until October 2, 2023), or a modification thereto.

If you are buying fund shares directly or through financial intermediaries, you should refer to the following section regarding buying, selling or exchanging fund shares in most cases. If you are buying shares through UBS Financial Services Inc.’s automated purchasing account system, you should direct your request to your financial advisor and refer to the sections below beginning “UBS Financial Services Inc.: automated purchasing accounts” on page 28 of this prospectus.

Buying shares

The funds accept the settlement of purchase orders only in available federal funds deposited by a commercial bank in an account at a Federal Reserve Bank, which can be transferred to a similar account of another bank in one day and may be made immediately available to a fund through its custodian.

You may buy fund shares through financial intermediaries who are authorized to accept purchase orders on behalf of the funds. If you buy fund shares through a financial intermediary who holds them in its own name on your behalf (in "street name"), the financial intermediary is responsible for sending the order to the transfer agent. You may not call the funds' transfer agent directly if your shares are held in "street name," but should direct all your requests to buy, sell or exchange shares directly to your financial intermediary.

If you do not use a financial intermediary, you may also buy fund shares directly by calling the funds' transfer agent, BNY Mellon Investment Servicing (US) Inc. ("BNY Mellon"), at 1-888-547 FUND and speaking to a representative. If you buy fund shares directly, you will need to complete an account application in connection with your initial purchase. You can get a copy of the application from UBS Asset Management (US) Inc., the fund's distributor ("UBS AM (US)"), or a financial intermediary or by calling the transfer agent toll-free 1-888-547 FUND.

You buy shares based upon the net asset value next determined after receipt of your purchase order in good form by the transfer agent. A fund must receive payment on the same day. Your purchase order will be effective only if (1) you or your financial intermediary wires payment in federal funds on the same business day that you place your order, and (2) the wire is actually credited to the fund's bank account by a Federal Reserve Bank on that day. Otherwise, the order will be rejected. A business day is any day on which the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE"), and the principal bond markets (as recommended by the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association ("SIFMA")) are open. (Holidays are listed on Appendix A to this prospectus.)

The charts below show processing times by which orders received by the funds' transfer agent will normally be executed. All times shown below represent Eastern time. Financial intermediaries may impose additional guidelines for when orders must be placed.

For UBS Prime Reserves Fund:

If a purchase order is received:	The order will normally be executed as of:

After 9:00 a.m. and before 10:00 a.m.	10:00 a.m.

After 11:00 a.m. and before 12:00 (noon)	12:00 (noon)

UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund does not accept purchase orders received after 12:00 (noon) (Eastern time).

Each fund may advance the time by which orders to buy or sell its shares must be received by the transfer agent on any day that the NYSE closes early because trading has been halted for the day. UBS Prime Reserves Fund will advance the final time by which orders to buy or sell shares must be received by the transfer agent to 3:00 p.m. (Eastern time) on those days that SIFMA has recommended that the bond markets close early. (The normal deadline for purchase orders and redemptions for the Tax-Free Fund is noon (Eastern time).) Appendix A to this prospectus lists the SIFMA US “early closing” holiday recommendations schedule for the remainder of 2023 and for 2024. These “early closing” days most often occur on a business day prior to a national holiday.

The funds, UBS AM and UBS AM (US) have the right to reject a purchase order and to suspend the offering of fund shares for a period of time or permanently. UBS AM (US) may return without notice money wired to a fund if the investor fails to place a corresponding share purchase order.

Wire instructions. You may instruct your bank to transfer federal funds by wire to:

Bank Name: Bank of New York Mellon
 ABA: 011001234
 Credit: 000073-5515
 BNY Mellon Investment Servicing (US) Inc. as Agent for UBS Funds
 Further Credit: Beneficiary Fund/Account Number (Shareholder account number)

You should not wire money directly to the funds’ transfer agent if your shares are held in “street name,” as described above in “Buying shares.” A financial intermediary or your bank may impose a service charge for wire transfers.

Minimum investment. The minimum investment level for initial purchases generally is $1,000,000. Initial purchases made through UBS Financial Services Inc. brokerage accounts, subsequent purchases, and purchases through exchanges are not subject to a minimum investment level. UBS Financial Services Inc. fee-based advisory programs are not eligible to make investments in the fund (with an exception for the normal month-end automatic reinvestment of dividends by existing shareholders).

UBS AM (US) may waive this minimum under other circumstances in its discretion. The funds may change their minimum investment requirements at any time. Investments must be denominated in US dollars.

If your fund account balance has fallen below the respective minimum initial investment amount indicated above, UBS AM (US) reserves the right to reject your purchase order to add to the account unless the account balance will be at least such amount after that purchase.

Electronic trade entry. The funds may offer an electronic trade order entry capability to eligible institutional investors who meet certain conditions. This option is not available if your shares are held in "street name," as described above in "Buying shares." For more information about this option and its availability, contact your investment professional at your financial intermediary, or contact the transfer agent at 1-888-547 FUND.

Selling shares

You may sell your shares through financial intermediaries that are authorized to accept redemption requests. If you sell your shares through a financial intermediary who holds them in its own name on your behalf (in "street name"), the financial intermediary is then responsible for sending the order to the transfer agent. You may not call the funds' transfer agent directly if your shares are held in "street name," but should direct all your requests to buy, sell or exchange shares directly to your financial intermediary.

You may also sell your shares by calling the transfer agent directly at 1-888-547 FUND and speaking with a representative.

You sell shares based upon the net asset value next determined after receipt of your redemption order in good form by the transfer agent. A redemption order will not be in good form unless it is received by the fund's transfer agent prior to the deadlines set forth below. Orders that are not received in good form will not be executed at the net asset value next determined after receipt of the order. Orders to sell shares received by the funds' transfer agent before 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time) will normally be executed as of 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time).

The charts below show processing times by which orders received by the funds' transfer agent will normally be executed. All times shown below represent Eastern time.

For UBS Prime Reserves Fund:

If a redemption order is received:	The order will normally be executed as of:
By 9:00 a.m.	9:00 a.m.
After 9:00 a.m. and before 10:00 a.m.	10:00 a.m.
After 10:00 a.m. and before 11:00 a.m.	11:00 a.m.
After 11:00 a.m. and before 12:00 (noon)	12:00 (noon)
After 12:00 (noon) and before 1:00 p.m.	1:00 p.m.
After 1:00 p.m. and before 2:00 p.m.	2:00 p.m.
After 2:00 p.m. and before 3:00 p.m.	3:00 p.m.
After 3:00 p.m. and before 4:00 p.m.	4:00 p.m.
After 4:00 p.m. and before 5:00 p.m.	5:00 p.m.

For UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund:

If a redemption order is received:	The order will normally be executed as of:
By 9:00 a.m.	9:00 a.m.
After 9:00 a.m. and before 10:00 a.m.	10:00 a.m.
After 10:00 a.m. and before 11:00 a.m.	11:00 a.m.
After 11:00 a.m. and before 12:00 (noon)	12:00 (noon)

UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund does not accept redemption orders received after 12:00 (noon) (Eastern time) (and therefore, orders for UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund received after that time will not be in good form).

As noted above under “Buying shares,” UBS Prime Reserves Fund may advance the time for the transfer agent’s receipt of orders to sell shares (e.g., days on which securities markets close early prior to a national holiday).

Your sales proceeds will be paid in federal funds. Proceeds from the sale will be wired to one or more accounts you have designated. If a redemption order is received by 5:00 p.m. (Eastern time) (noon (Eastern time) in the case of UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund), the proceeds ordinarily will be transmitted in federal funds on the same day. If you sell all the shares you own, dividends accrued for the month to date will be paid in federal funds and wired on the same day to the accounts noted above.

If the transfer agent receives your order to sell shares late in the day, it will process your order and initiate a wire. However, your bank account or your account at your financial intermediary may not receive the proceeds in a timely manner if a Federal Reserve Bank is experiencing delay in transfer of funds. Neither the funds, UBS AM, UBS AM (US), a financial intermediary nor the transfer agent is responsible for the performance of a bank or any of its intermediaries.

The transfer agent will process orders to sell shares only if you have on file with it a properly completed account application (including any information that the fund or the transfer agent may require to confirm eligibility) with a signature guarantee (if you have previously completed one in connection with a direct purchase of fund shares) or other authentication acceptable to the transfer agent. The account application requires you to designate the account(s) for wiring sales proceeds. You must submit any change in the designated account(s) for sale proceeds in a form acceptable to the transfer agent. The transfer agent will not place the sales order if the information you provide does not correspond to the information on your application or account records.

A signature guarantee may be obtained from a financial institution, broker, dealer or clearing agency that is a participant in one of the medallion programs recognized by the Securities Transfer Agents Association. These are: Securities Transfer Agents Medallion Program (STAMP), Stock Exchanges Medallion Program (SEMP) and the New York Stock Exchange Medallion Signature Program (MSP). The transfer agent will not accept signature guarantees that are not part of these programs.

Typically, redemptions of fund shares will be made by the funds wiring a cash payment. The funds typically expect to meet redemption requests by using holdings of cash or cash equivalents and/or proceeds from the sale or maturity of portfolio holdings. Although not routinely used by a fund, a fund reserves the right to pay proceeds “in kind” (i.e., payment in securities rather than cash) if the investment you are redeeming is large enough to affect a fund’s operations or in particularly stressed market conditions. In these cases, you might incur transaction costs converting the securities to cash. The securities included in a redemption in kind may include illiquid securities that may not be immediately saleable.

If you have additional questions on selling shares, you should contact your investment professional at your financial intermediary or call the transfer agent at 1-888-547 FUND.

Exchanging shares

You may exchange shares of a fund for shares of the other fund offered in this prospectus or of UBS Select Treasury Institutional Fund and of UBS Select Government Institutional Fund.

The minimum noted above in “Buying shares” does not apply to initial purchases made through an exchange of shares. All exchanges are based upon the net asset value that is next calculated after the fund receives your order.

Exchange orders for each fund are normally accepted up until noon (Eastern time) for UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund and 5:00 p.m. (Eastern time) for UBS Prime Reserves Fund. Exchange orders received after those times will not be effected, and you or your financial intermediary will have to place an exchange order before those times on the following business day if you still wish to effect an exchange. If you exchange all your fund shares, the dividends accrued on those shares for the month to date will also be invested in the shares of the other fund into which the exchange is made.

You can place an exchange order through a financial intermediary. The financial intermediary is then responsible for sending the order to the transfer agent. You may not call the funds’ transfer agent directly if your shares are held in “street name,” but should direct all your requests to buy, sell or exchange shares directly to your financial intermediary.

You can also place an exchange order by calling the transfer agent directly at 1-888-547 FUND and speaking with a representative.

Shareholders making their initial purchase of another fund through an exchange should allow more time. These exchange orders should be received by the transfer agent at least one half hour before the exchange order deadline to allow the transfer agent sufficient time to establish an account in the new fund. The transfer agent may not be able to effect the exchange if this extra time is not allotted.

The funds may modify or terminate the exchange privilege at any time.

Transfer of account limitations

If you hold your shares with UBS Financial Services Inc. or another securities firm, please note that if you change securities firms, you may not be able to transfer your fund shares to an account at the new securities firm. Fund shares may only be transferred to an account held with a securities dealer or financial intermediary that has entered into an agreement with the fund’s principal underwriter. If you cannot transfer your shares to another firm, you may choose to hold the shares directly in your own name with the fund’s transfer agent, BNY Mellon. Please contact your broker or Financial Advisor for information on how to transfer your shares to the fund’s transfer agent. If you transfer your shares to the fund’s transfer agent, the fund’s principal underwriter may be named as the dealer of record and you will receive ongoing account statements from BNY Mellon. Should you have any questions regarding the portability of your fund shares, please contact your broker or Financial Advisor.

Additional information about your account

You will receive a confirmation of your initial purchase of fund shares, and subsequent transactions may be reported on periodic account statements. These periodic statements may be sent monthly except that, if your only fund activity in a quarter was reinvestment of dividends, the activity may be reported on a quarterly rather than a monthly statement.

To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. If you do not provide the information requested, a fund may not be able to maintain your account. If a fund is unable to verify your identity (or that of another person(s) authorized to act on your behalf) within a reasonable time, the fund and UBS AM (US) reserve the right to close your account and/or take such other action they deem reasonable or required by law. If we decide to close your account for this reason, your fund shares will be redeemed at the net asset value per share next calculated after the account is closed, less any applicable fees. You may recognize a gain or loss on the redemption of your fund shares and you may incur a tax liability.

Upon receipt of a proper redemption request submitted in a timely manner and otherwise in accordance with the redemption procedures set forth in this prospectus, each fund will redeem the requested shares and make a payment to you in satisfaction thereof no later than the business day following the redemption request (under normal circumstances, on the same day). Each fund may postpone and/or suspend redemption and payment beyond one business day (but within seven calendar days) for any period during which there is a non-routine closure of the Fedwire or applicable Federal Reserve Banks. In addition, each fund may also postpone or suspend redemption and payment as follows: (1) for any period (a) during which the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") is closed other than customary weekend and holiday closings or (b) during which trading on the NYSE is restricted; (2) for any period during which an emergency exists as a result of which (a) disposal by the fund of securities owned by it is not reasonably practicable or (b) it is not reasonably practicable for the fund fairly to determine the net asset value of shares of the fund; (3) for any period during which the US Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") has, by rule or regulation, deemed that (a) trading shall be restricted or (b) an emergency exists; (4) for any period that the SEC may by order permit for your protection; (5) for any period during which the fund, as part of a necessary liquidation of the fund, has properly postponed and/or suspended redemption of shares and payment in accordance with federal securities laws; or (6) prior to October 2, 2023, if the board determines to impose a redemption gate in accordance with Rule 2a-7 (see "Information on liquidity fees and redemption gates" below).

A financial intermediary buying or selling shares for its customers is responsible for transmitting orders to the transfer agent in accordance with its customer agreements and the procedures noted above.

UBS AM (US) (not the funds) also may pay fees to entities that make shares of the funds available to others. The amount of these fees will be negotiated between UBS AM (US) and the entity.

If you currently have an account at UBS Financial Services Inc. and prefer the features of an Automated Purchasing Account (as described below), ask your Financial Advisor to help you to open an Automated Purchasing Account. You will need to redeem your shares in your Direct Purchasing Account (as described below) and to transfer the proceeds to a new Automated Purchasing Account. More information regarding Automated Purchasing Accounts is provided below.

UBS Financial Services Inc.: automated purchasing accounts

Initial purchases made through UBS Financial Services Inc. can be made in one of two ways. The purchases can be made by your Financial Advisor directly with a fund (a "Direct Purchasing Account") or can be entered through that firm's order entry system (an "Automated Purchasing Account"). Your account will be established as an Automated Purchasing Account unless you instruct your Financial Advisor otherwise or made your initial purchase prior to May 19, 2003. Automated Purchasing Accounts will have certain benefits but do not have certain features available to Direct Purchasing Accounts.

If you have an Automated Purchasing Account, you should direct all your requests to buy, sell or exchange shares directly to your Financial Advisor. The following sections provide information regarding Automated Purchasing Accounts; procedures related to Direct Purchasing Accounts are described above under “Managing your fund account.”

Buying shares

When you instruct your Financial Advisor to buy shares on your behalf, your account at UBS Financial Services Inc. will automatically be debited, and UBS Financial Services Inc. will wire funds on your behalf. Your Financial Advisor is responsible for making sure that your order is promptly sent to a fund.

Shares are available to Automated Purchasing Accounts as an economical and convenient means to invest short-term funds.

You buy shares based upon the net asset value next determined after receipt of your purchase order in good form by the transfer agent. The fund must receive payment on the same day. Your purchase order will be effective only if (1) UBS Financial Services Inc. wires payment in federal funds on the same business day that you place your order, and (2) the wire is actually credited to the fund’s bank account by a Federal Reserve Bank on that day. Otherwise, the order will be rejected. A business day is any day on which the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the NYSE, and the principal bond markets (as recommended by SIFMA) are open. (Holidays are listed on Appendix A to this prospectus.)

The charts below show processing times by which orders received by the funds’ transfer agent will normally be executed. All times shown below represent Eastern time.

For UBS Prime Reserves Fund:

If a purchase order is received:	The order will normally be executed as of:
By 9:00 a.m.	9:00 a.m.

After 11:00 a.m. and before 12:00 (noon)	12:00 (noon)

UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund does not accept purchase orders received after 12:00 (noon) (Eastern time).

Each fund may advance the time by which orders to buy or sell its shares must be received by the transfer agent on any day that the NYSE closes early because trading has been halted for the day. UBS Prime Reserves Fund will advance the final time by which orders to buy or sell shares must be received by the transfer agent to 3:00 p.m. (Eastern time) on those days that SIFMA has recommended that the bond markets close early. Appendix A to this prospectus lists the SIFMA US holiday “early closing” recommendations schedule for the remainder of 2023 and for 2024. These “early closing” days most often occur on a business day prior to a national holiday.

The funds, UBS AM and UBS AM (US) have the right to reject a purchase order and to suspend the offering of fund shares for a period of time or permanently.

Minimum investment. The minimum investment level for initial purchases generally is $1,000,000. Initial purchases made through UBS Financial Services Inc. brokerage accounts, subsequent purchases, and purchases through exchanges are not subject to a minimum investment level. UBS Financial Services Inc. fee-based advisory programs are not eligible to make investments in the fund (with an exception for the normal month-end automatic reinvestment of dividends by existing shareholders).

UBS AM (US) may waive this minimum under other circumstances in its discretion. The funds may change their minimum investment requirements at any time. Investments must be denominated in US dollars.

If your fund account balance has fallen below the respective minimum initial investment amount indicated above, UBS AM (US) reserves the right to reject your purchase order to add to the account unless the account balance will be at least such amount after that purchase.

Selling shares

You must place your sell order directly with your Financial Advisor. Your Financial Advisor is responsible for making sure that your order is promptly sent to a fund.

You sell shares based upon the net asset value next determined after receipt of your redemption order in good form by the transfer agent. A redemption order will not be in good form unless it is received by the fund’s transfer agent prior to the deadlines set forth below. Orders that are not received in good form will not be executed at the net asset value next determined after receipt of the order.

The charts below show processing times by which orders received by the funds’ transfer agent will normally be executed. All times shown below represent Eastern time.

For UBS Prime Reserves Fund:

If a redemption order is received:	The order will normally be executed as of:
By 9:00 a.m.	9:00 a.m.
After 9:00 a.m. and before 10:00 a.m.	10:00 a.m.
After 10:00 a.m. and before 11:00 a.m.	11:00 a.m.
After 11:00 a.m. and before 12:00 (noon)	12:00 (noon)
After 12:00 (noon) and before 1:00 p.m.	1:00 p.m.
After 1:00 p.m. and before 2:00 p.m.	2:00 p.m.
After 2:00 p.m. and before 3:00 p.m.	3:00 p.m.
After 3:00 p.m. and before 4:00 p.m.	4:00 p.m.
After 4:00 p.m. and before 5:00 p.m.	5:00 p.m.

For UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund:

If a redemption order is received:	The order will normally be executed as of:
By 9:00 a.m.	9:00 a.m.
After 9:00 a.m. and before 10:00 a.m.	10:00 a.m.
After 10:00 a.m. and before 11:00 a.m.	11:00 a.m.
After 11:00 a.m. and before 12:00 (noon)	12:00 (noon)

UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund does not accept redemption orders received after 12:00 (noon) (Eastern time) (and therefore, orders for UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund received after that time will not be in good form).

As noted above under “Buying shares,” UBS Prime Reserves Fund may advance the time for the transfer agent’s receipt of orders to sell shares (e.g., days on which securities markets close early prior to a national holiday).

Your sales proceeds will be paid in federal funds wired directly to UBS Financial Services Inc. for credit to your account. If you sell all the shares you own, dividends accrued for the month to date will be paid in federal funds and wired or deposited on the same day.

If the transfer agent receives your order to sell shares late in the day, it will process your order and initiate a wire. However, your account at UBS Financial Services Inc. may not receive the proceeds in a timely manner if a Federal Reserve Bank is experiencing delay in transfer of funds. Neither the funds, UBS AM, UBS AM (US), UBS Financial Services Inc. nor the transfer agent is responsible for the performance of a bank or any of its intermediaries.

Typically, redemptions of fund shares will be made by the fund wiring a cash payment or a deposit into your account. The funds typically expect to meet redemption requests by using holdings of cash or cash equivalents and/or proceeds from the sale or maturity of portfolio holdings. Although not routinely used by a fund, a fund reserves the right to pay proceeds “in kind” (i.e., payment in securities rather than cash) if the investment you are redeeming is large enough to affect a fund’s operations or in particularly stressed market conditions. In these cases, you might incur brokerage costs converting the securities to cash. The securities included in a redemption in kind may include illiquid securities that may not be immediately saleable.

If you have additional questions on selling shares, you should contact your Financial Advisor or call the transfer agent at 1-888-547 FUND.

Exchanging shares

You must place your exchange order directly with your Financial Advisor, who is responsible for sending the order to the transfer agent.

You may exchange shares of a fund for shares of the other fund offered in this prospectus or of UBS Select Treasury Institutional Fund and of UBS Select Government Institutional Fund.

The minimum noted above in “Buying shares” does not apply to initial purchases made through an exchange of shares. All exchanges are based upon the net asset value that is next calculated after the fund receives your order.

Exchange orders for each fund are normally accepted up until noon (Eastern time) for UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund and 5:00 p.m. (Eastern time) for UBS Prime Reserves Fund. Exchange orders received after those times will not be effected, and you will need to instruct your Financial Advisor to place an exchange order before those times on the following business day if you still wish to effect an exchange. If you exchange all your fund shares, the dividends accrued on those shares for the month to date will also be invested in the shares of the other fund into which the exchange is made.

Shareholders making their initial purchase of another fund through an exchange should allow more time. These exchange orders should be received by the transfer agent at least one half hour before the exchange order deadline to allow the transfer agent sufficient time to establish an account in the new fund. Otherwise the transfer agent may not be able to effect the exchange if this extra time is not allotted.

The funds may modify or terminate the exchange privilege at any time.

Transfer of account limitations

If you hold your shares with UBS Financial Services Inc. or another securities firm, please note that if you change securities firms, you may not be able to transfer your fund shares to an account at the new securities firm. Fund shares may only be transferred to an account held with a securities dealer or financial intermediary that has entered into an agreement with the fund's principal underwriter. If you cannot transfer your shares to another firm, you may choose to hold the shares directly in your own name with the fund's transfer agent, BNY Mellon. Please contact your broker or Financial Advisor for information on how to transfer your shares to the fund's transfer agent. If you transfer your shares to the fund's transfer agent, the fund's principal underwriter may be named as the dealer of record and you will receive ongoing account statements from BNY Mellon. Should you have any questions regarding the portability of your fund shares, please contact your broker or Financial Advisor.

Additional information about your account

You will receive a confirmation of your initial purchase of fund shares, and subsequent transactions may be reported on periodic account statements. These periodic statements may be sent monthly except that, if your only fund activity in a quarter was reinvestment of dividends, the activity may be reported on a quarterly rather than a monthly statement.

To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. If you do not provide the information requested, a fund may not be able to maintain your account. If a fund is unable to verify your identity or that of another person(s) authorized to act on your behalf, the fund and UBS AM (US) reserve the right to close your account and/or take such other action they deem reasonable or required by law. Fund shares will be redeemed and valued in accordance with the net asset value next calculated after the determination has been made to close the account.

Upon receipt of a proper redemption request submitted in a timely manner and otherwise in accordance with the redemption procedures set forth in this prospectus, each fund will redeem the requested shares and make a payment to you in satisfaction thereof no later than the business day following the redemption request (under normal circumstances, on the same day). Each fund may postpone and/or suspend redemption and payment beyond one business day (but within seven calendar days) for any period during which there is a non-routine closure of the Fedwire or applicable Federal Reserve Banks. In addition, each fund may also postpone or suspend redemption and payment as follows: (1) for any period (a) during which the NYSE is closed other than customary weekend and holiday closings or (b) during which trading on the NYSE is restricted; (2) for any period during which an emergency exists as a result of which (a) disposal by the fund of securities owned by it is not reasonably practicable or (b) it is not reasonably practicable for the fund fairly to determine the net asset value of shares of the fund; (3) for any period during which the SEC has, by rule or regulation, deemed that (a) trading shall be restricted or (b) an emergency exists; (4) for any period that the SEC may by order permit for your protection; (5) for any period during which the fund, as part of a necessary liquidation of the fund, has properly postponed and/or suspended redemption of shares and payment in accordance with federal securities laws; or (6) prior to October 2, 2023, if the board determines to impose a redemption gate in accordance with Rule 2a-7 (see “Information on liquidity fees and redemption gates” below).

UBS AM (US) (not the funds) also may pay fees to entities that make shares of the funds available to others. The amount of these fees will be negotiated between UBS AM (US) and the entity.

If you currently have an Automated Purchasing Account and prefer the features of a Direct Purchasing Account as described above, ask your Financial Advisor to help you to open a Direct Purchasing Account. You need to complete an account application (including any information that the fund or the financial intermediary may require to confirm eligibility) when establishing a Direct Purchasing Account.

Information on liquidity fees and redemption gates

Prior to October 2, 2023. (With respect to periods beginning October 2, 2023, please see further below.)

Pursuant to Rule 2a-7, each master fund’s board is permitted to impose a liquidity fee on redemptions from a master fund (up to 2%) or a redemption gate to temporarily restrict redemptions from a master fund for up to 10 business days (in any 90-day period) in the event that such master fund’s “weekly liquid assets” fall below certain designated thresholds. The impact of any such liquidity fee or redemption gate will flow through to the relevant feeder fund, which will implement a corresponding liquidity fee or redemption gate. Weekly liquid assets generally include cash, direct obligations of the US government, certain other US government or agency securities, securities that will mature or are subject to a demand feature that is exercisable and payable within five business days, and amounts receivable and due unconditionally within five business days on pending sales of portfolio securities.

If either master fund’s weekly liquid assets fall below 30% of the master fund’s total assets, the master fund’s board is permitted, but not required, to: (i) impose a liquidity fee of no more than 2% of the amount redeemed; and/or (ii) impose a redemption gate to temporarily suspend the right of redemption.

Liquidity fees and redemption gates are most likely to be imposed only during times of extraordinary market stress or exceptional circumstances pertaining to a fund. The imposition and termination of a liquidity fee or redemption gate will be reported by a fund to the SEC on Form N-CR. Such information will also be available on the funds’ website (<https://www.ubs.com/usmoneymarketfunds>). In addition, a fund may make such announcements through a press release or by other means.

Liquidity fees would reduce the amount you receive upon redemption of your shares. A fund retains the liquidity fees for the benefit of remaining shareholders. Any redemption requests submitted while a redemption gate is in place will be cancelled without further notice. A new redemption request must be submitted to a fund if you wish to redeem your shares after the redemption gate has been lifted.

Each master fund's board may, in its discretion, terminate a liquidity fee or redemption gate at any time if it believes such action to be in the best interest of a master fund and its interestholders. Also, liquidity fees and redemption gates will automatically terminate at the beginning of the next business day once a master fund's weekly liquid assets reach at least 30% of its total assets. Redemption gates may only last up to 10 business days in any 90-day period. When a fee or a gate is in place, a fund may cease selling shares or subject the purchase of shares to certain conditions, which may include affirmation of the investor's knowledge that a fee or a gate is in effect. When a fee or a gate is in place, shareholders will not be permitted to exchange into or out of a fund. Each master fund's board may, in its discretion, permanently suspend redemptions and liquidate a master fund and, thus, its corresponding feeder fund, if, among other things, a master fund, at the end of a business day, has less than 10% of its total assets invested in weekly liquid assets.

There is some degree of uncertainty with respect to the tax treatment of liquidity fees received by money market funds, and such tax treatment may be the subject of future guidance issued by the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"). If a fund receives liquidity fees, it will consider the appropriate tax treatment of such fees to the fund at such time.

Beginning October 2, 2023.

Pursuant to Rule 2a-7, each master fund's board may, in its discretion, impose a liquidity fee on redemptions from the relevant master fund (up to 2%) if it believes such action to be in the best interest of the relevant master fund and its interestholders. The impact of any such liquidity fee will flow through to each of the relevant feeder funds, which will implement a corresponding liquidity fee. The board may delegate to the funds' investment advisor or officers the ability to make determinations regarding liquidity fees pursuant to written procedures and guidelines adopted by the board. Liquidity fees are most likely to be imposed only during times of extraordinary market stress or exceptional circumstances pertaining to a fund. The imposition of a liquidity fee will be reported by a fund to the SEC on Form N-MFP.

Liquidity fees would reduce the amount you receive upon redemption of your shares. A fund retains the liquidity fees for the benefit of remaining shareholders.

Each master fund's board may, in its discretion, terminate a liquidity fee at any time if it believes such action to be in the best interest of the relevant master fund and its interestholders. Each master fund's board may, in its discretion, permanently suspend redemptions and liquidate the relevant master fund and, thus, the corresponding feeder fund, if, among other things, the relevant master fund, at the end of a business day, has less than 10% of its total assets invested in weekly liquid assets.

There is some degree of uncertainty with respect to the tax treatment of liquidity fees received by money market funds, and such tax treatment may be the subject of future guidance issued by the IRS. If the fund receives liquidity fees, it will consider the appropriate tax treatment of such fees to the fund at such time.

Market timing

Frequent purchases and redemptions of fund shares could increase each fund's transaction costs, such as market spreads and custodial fees, and may interfere with the efficient management of each fund's portfolio, which could impact each fund's performance. However, money market funds are generally used by investors for short-term investments, often in place of bank checking or savings accounts or for cash management purposes. Investors value the ability to add and withdraw their funds quickly, without restriction. UBS AM (US) anticipates that shareholders will purchase and sell fund shares frequently because each fund is designed to offer investors a liquid cash option. UBS AM (US) also believes that money market funds, such as the funds offered in this prospectus, are not targets of abusive trading practices. For these reasons, the board has not adopted policies and procedures, or imposed redemption fees or other restrictions such as minimum holding periods, to discourage excessive or short-term trading of fund shares.

Other UBS funds that are managed by UBS AM that are not money market funds have approved policies and procedures designed to discourage and prevent abusive trading practices. For more information about market timing policies and procedures for these funds, please see the funds' prospectuses.

Pricing and valuation

The price of fund shares is based on net asset value. The net asset value per share is equal to the value of all the assets of the fund, minus the liabilities of the fund, divided by the number of shares outstanding. In determining net asset value, each master fund values its securities at their amortized cost (unless the fund's board (or UBS AM as valuation designee) determines that this does not represent fair value), and each feeder fund buys the corresponding master fund's interests at the master fund's net asset value. The amortized cost method uses a constant amortization to maturity of the difference between the cost of the instrument to a fund and the amount due at maturity. Each fund's net asset value per share is expected to be $1.00, although this value is not guaranteed.

The net asset value per share for UBS Prime Reserves Fund is normally determined nine times each business day, every hour on the hour, beginning at 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time) and concluding at 5:00 p.m. (Eastern time). The net asset value per share for UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund is normally determined four times each business day, at 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time), 10:00 a.m. (Eastern time), 11:00 a.m. (Eastern time) and 12:00 noon (Eastern time).

Your price for buying or selling shares will be based upon the net asset value that is next calculated after the fund receives your order.

On any day that a fund determines to advance the time by which orders to buy or sell its shares must be received by the transfer agent as described above under "Buying shares," the time for determination of the fund's net asset value per share will be as of the same time the fund has determined to cease accepting orders to buy or sell its shares. The fund will not price its shares again on that business day even though it normally prices its shares more frequently.

The funds' board has designated UBS AM as the valuation designee pursuant to Rule 2a-5 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, and delegated to UBS AM the responsibility for making fair value determinations with respect to a fund's portfolio securities. UBS AM, as the valuation designee, is responsible for periodically assessing any material risks associated with the determination of the fair value of a fund's investments; establishing and applying fair value methodologies; testing the appropriateness of fair value methodologies; and overseeing and evaluating third-party pricing services. UBS AM has a valuation committee to assist with its designated responsibilities as valuation designee. The types of securities and other instruments for which such fair value pricing may be necessary include, but are not limited to: securities of an issuer that has entered into a restructuring; fixed-income securities that have gone into default and for which there is no current market value quotation; Section 4(a)(2) commercial paper; securities or instruments that are restricted as to transfer or resale; illiquid instruments; and instruments for which the prices or values available do not, in the judgment of UBS AM, represent the current market value. The need to fair value a fund's portfolio securities may also result from low trading volume in foreign markets or thinly traded securities or instruments. Various factors may be reviewed in order to make a good faith determination of a security's or instrument's fair value. These factors include, but are not limited to, fundamental analytical data relating to the investment; the nature and duration of restrictions on disposition of the securities or instruments; and the evaluation of forces which influence the market in which the securities or instruments are purchased and sold.

Each fund's portfolio holding consists of an interest in the master fund in which the fund invests. The value of such portfolio holding reflects each fund's proportionate interest in the net assets of its corresponding master fund. Each master fund generally values securities and other instruments in a manner as described in that master fund's prospectus or similar document.

Management

Investment advisor

UBS Asset Management (Americas) Inc. ("UBS AM") acts as the investment advisor and administrator for Prime CNAV Master Fund and Tax-Free Master Fund, which are the master funds in which the funds invest their assets. UBS AM also acts as the administrator for the funds. As investment advisor, UBS AM makes the master funds' investment decisions. It buys and sells securities for the master funds and conducts the research that leads to the purchase and sale decisions.

UBS AM is a Delaware corporation with its principal business offices located at One North Wacker Drive, Chicago, IL 60606, and at 787 Seventh Avenue, New York, NY 10019. UBS AM is an investment adviser registered with the SEC. UBS AM is an indirect asset management subsidiary of UBS Group AG ("UBS"). As of June 30, 2023, UBS AM had approximately $336.0 billion in assets under management. UBS AM is a member of the UBS Asset Management Division, which had approximately $1.2 trillion in assets under management worldwide as of June 30, 2023. UBS is an internationally diversified organization headquartered in Zurich, Switzerland and with operations in many areas of the financial services group of industries.

Advisory and administration fees

UBS AM's contract fee for the advisory and administrative services it provides to each master fund is based on the following fee schedule:

$0 – $30 billion	0.1000%
Above $30 billion up to $40 billion	0.0975%
Above $40 billion up to $50 billion	0.0950%

UBS AM's contract fee for the administrative services it provides to each feeder fund is 0.08% of each feeder fund's average daily net assets.

In exchange for these fees, UBS AM has agreed to bear all of the funds' expenses other than interest, taxes, extraordinary costs and the cost of securities purchased and sold by the funds, including any transaction costs. Although UBS AM is not obligated to pay the fees and expenses of the funds' independent trustees, it is contractually obligated to reduce its management fee in an amount equal to those fees and expenses. UBS AM estimates that these fees and expenses will be less than 0.01% of each fund's average daily net assets.

UBS AM received an effective fee of 0.18% and 0.18% of the average daily net assets of each of UBS Prime Reserves Fund and UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund, respectively, for its services in the funds' last fiscal year which ended April 30, 2023 (includes fees allocated from related master fund).

UBS AM may voluntarily waive fees from time to time. For example, UBS AM may voluntarily undertake to waive fees in the event that fund yields drop below a certain level. Once started, there is no guarantee that UBS AM would continue to voluntarily waive a portion of its fees. Waivers may impact a fund's performance.

A discussion regarding the basis for the board's approval of the Management Agreement between UBS AM and Master Trust with respect to Prime CNAV Master Fund and Tax-Free Master Fund is available in the fund's semiannual report to shareholders for the fiscal period ended October 31, 2022.

Master-feeder structure. UBS Prime Reserves Fund and UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund are "feeder funds" that invest all of their assets in "master funds"—Prime CNAV Master Fund and Tax-Free Master Fund, respectively. The feeder funds and their respective master funds have the same investment objectives.

The master funds may accept investments from other feeder funds. Each feeder fund bears the master fund's expenses in proportion to their investment in the master fund. Each feeder fund can set its own transaction minimums, feeder fund-specific expenses and other conditions. This arrangement allows each feeder fund's Trustees to withdraw the feeder fund's assets from the master fund if they believe doing so is in the shareholders' best interests. If the Trustees withdraw the feeder fund's assets, they would then consider whether the feeder fund should hire its own investment advisor, invest in a different master fund or take other action.

Other information

To the extent authorized by law, each fund reserves the right to discontinue offering shares at any time, merge, reorganize itself or cease operations and liquidate.

Dividends and taxes

Dividends

Each fund declares dividends daily and pays them monthly. Dividends accrued during a given month are paid on the first business day of the next month or upon the sale of all the fund shares in a shareholder's account.

Each fund may distribute all or a portion of its capital gains (if any) to the extent required to ensure that the fund maintains its federal tax law status as a regulated investment company. Each fund will also distribute all or a portion of its capital gains to the extent necessary to maintain its share price at $1.00.

Shares of each fund earn dividends on the day they are purchased but do not earn dividends on the day they are sold.

You will receive dividends in additional shares unless you elect to receive them in cash. If you prefer to receive dividends in cash, contact your Financial Advisor (if you purchased your shares through a financial intermediary) or the transfer agent (if you purchased your shares directly).

While each fund declares dividends daily and pays them monthly, the amounts are rounded to the nearest $0.01 on a daily basis with respect to each investor's fund account. As a result, investors whose fund account balances earn daily dividends that total less than one half a cent on any given day will not accrue any dividends on that day.

Taxes

The dividends that you receive from UBS Prime Reserves Fund generally are subject to federal income tax regardless of whether you receive them in additional fund shares or in cash, and are expected to be taxed as ordinary income. Such dividends are not eligible for the reduced rate of tax that may apply to certain qualifying dividends on corporate stock. Dividends paid by the fund are also not expected to qualify as "exempt-interest dividends," and will not be excludable from gross income by its shareholders, because the fund is not expected to invest at least 50% of the value of its total assets in securities the interest on which is excludable from gross income.

Although dividends are generally treated as taxable to you in the year they are paid, dividends declared in October, November or December but paid in January are taxable as if they were paid in December.

Shareholders not subject to tax on their income will not be required to pay tax on amounts distributed to them. If you hold fund shares through a tax-exempt account or plan such as an IRA or 401(k) plan, dividends on your shares generally will not be subject to tax until proceeds are withdrawn from the plan.

Some states and localities do not tax dividends that are attributable to interest on certain government securities under certain circumstances. However, these dividends may be subject to corporate franchise tax in some states.

Each fund will tell you annually the character of dividends for tax reporting purposes. You will generally not recognize any gain or loss on the sale or exchange of your fund shares as long as the fund maintains a share price of $1.00.

A liquidity fee imposed by a fund will reduce the amount you will receive upon the redemption of your shares, and will decrease the amount of any capital gain or increase the amount of any capital loss you will recognize from such redemption. There is some degree of uncertainty with respect to the tax treatment of liquidity fees received by money market funds, and such tax treatment may be the subject of future guidance issued by the IRS. If a fund receives liquidity fees, it will consider the appropriate tax treatment of such fees to the fund at such time.

The dividends that you receive from UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund generally are not subject to federal income tax. If you are subject to alternative minimum tax, a portion of the dividends paid by UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund may be included in computing such taxes. The dividends received from UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund are generally subject to any applicable state taxes.

The general exemption from federal taxes for dividends paid by UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund will not benefit investors in tax-sheltered retirement plans or other entities or individuals not subject to federal taxes. Further, distributions by tax-sheltered retirement plans are generally taxable even if earnings are derived from tax-exempt dividends. As a result, UBS Tax-Free Reserves Fund is generally not an appropriate investment for tax-sheltered retirement plans.

An additional 3.8% Medicare tax is imposed on certain net investment income (including ordinary dividends and capital gain distributions received from a fund and net gains from redemptions or other taxable dispositions of fund shares) of US individuals, estates and trusts to the extent that such person's "modified adjusted gross income" (in the case of an individual) or "adjusted gross income" (in the case of an estate or trust) exceeds certain threshold amounts.

Each fund may be required to withhold a 24% federal tax on all dividends payable to you

- if you fail to provide the fund or UBS Financial Services Inc. with your correct taxpayer identification number on Form W-9 (for US citizens and resident aliens) or to make required certifications, or

- if you have been notified by the IRS that you are subject to backup withholding.

Taxable distributions to non-residents will generally be subject to a 30% withholding tax (or lower applicable treaty rate).

Each fund is required to withhold US tax (at a 30% rate) on payments of taxable dividends made to certain non-US entities that fail to comply (or be deemed compliant) with extensive reporting and withholding requirements designed to inform the US Department of the Treasury of US-owned foreign investment accounts. Shareholders may be requested to provide additional information to the funds to enable the funds to determine whether withholding is required.

The above is a general and abbreviated discussion of certain tax considerations, and each investor is advised to consult with his or her own tax advisor.

There is additional information on taxes in the funds' SAI.

Disclosure of portfolio holdings and other information

Each fund is a “feeder fund” that invests in securities through an underlying master fund. Each fund and the corresponding master fund have the same investment objective.

Each fund’s complete schedule of portfolio holdings for the second and fourth quarters of each fiscal year is included in its semiannual and annual reports to shareholders and is filed with the SEC on Form N-CSR. Each fund’s Forms N-CSR are available on the SEC’s website at <http://www.sec.gov>. Additionally, you may obtain copies of semiannual and annual reports to shareholders from the funds upon request by calling 1-800-647 1568. The semiannual and annual reports for each fund will be posted on the fund’s website at <https://www.ubs.com/usmoneymarketfunds>.

Each fund will disclose on UBS AM’s website, within five business days after the end of each month, a complete schedule of the related master fund’s portfolio holdings and information regarding the weighted average maturity and weighted average life of such master fund. This information will be posted on the UBS website at the following internet address: <https://www.ubs.com/usmoneymarketfunds>. In addition, each fund will file with the SEC on Form N-MFP, within five business days after the end of each month, more detailed portfolio holdings information. Each fund’s Forms N-MFP will be available on the SEC’s website; UBS AM’s website will also contain a link to these filings. The UBS AM website will also disclose the following information for each fund as of the end of each business day for the previous six months: (1) the percentage of each fund’s total assets invested in daily (in the case of UBS Prime Reserves Fund) and weekly liquid assets; (2) each fund’s daily net inflows and outflows; and (3) each fund’s current market-based net asset value per share to four decimal places, which is calculated using current market quotations (or an appropriate substitute that reflects current market conditions). (For purposes of transactions in the shares of each fund, the price for shares will be the net asset value per share, calculated using the amortized cost method to two decimal places as further described in this prospectus and the related SAI.) Investors also may find additional information about each fund at the above referenced UBS website internet address.

Additionally, an abbreviated portfolio holdings report for the master fund in which UBS Prime Reserves Fund invests is available on a weekly basis. (The abbreviated weekly portfolio holdings report contains less information about each holding.) This information will be posted on the UBS website at the following internet address: <https://www.ubs.com/usmoneymarketfundsholdings>. Under normal circumstances, the abbreviated report will be as of the last business day in a week and is expected to be posted by the Thursday or Friday of the following week. The weekly information will be posted to the website at least one day prior to other public dissemination.

The weekly portfolio holdings information postings will continue to remain available on the website, along with any more current holdings information, at least until the date on which a fund files its portfolio holdings information with the SEC on Forms N-CSR for the period that included the date as of which the website information is current. (For example, a fund files its annual report for its most recent fiscal year ended April 30th with the SEC on Form N-CSR around the beginning of July. Weekly portfolio holdings information for periods ended April 30th could be removed from the website once the annual report is filed, but not until then.)

Please consult the funds' SAI for a description of the policies and procedures that govern disclosure of the funds' portfolio holdings.

UBS Asset Management, Americas Region

Business continuity planning overview

UBS Asset Management affiliates UBS Asset Management (US) Inc. and UBS Asset Management (Americas) Inc. protect information assets, processes, and customer data from unpredictable events through preparation and testing of a comprehensive business continuity capability. This capability seeks recovery of the technology infrastructure and information, and prevention of the loss of company or customer information and transactions. In the event of a crisis scenario, we will recover those functions deemed to be critical to our business and our clients, and strive to resume processing within predefined time frames following a disaster declaration. Business continuity processes provide us the ability to continue critical business functions regardless of the type, scope, or duration of a localized event. However, these processes are dependent upon various external resources beyond our control, such as regional telecommunications, transportation networks, and other public utilities.

Essential elements of the business continuity plan include:

- Crisis communication procedures—Action plans for coordinating essential communications for crisis management leaders, employees, and key business partners
- Information technology backup and recovery procedures—Comprehensive technology and data management plans designed to protect the integrity and quick recovery of essential technology infrastructure and data
- Testing regimen—The business continuity plan is reviewed and tested on an annual basis. In addition, all IT application recovery plans are updated and tested annually.
