Fund summary

Investment objective

Maximum current income consistent with liquidity and the preservation of capital.

Fees and expenses of the fund

These tables describe the fees and expenses that you may pay if you buy, hold and sell shares of the fund. You may pay other fees, such as fees to financial intermediaries, which are not reflected in the table or example below.

Shareholder fees (fees paid directly from your investment)

Maximum front-end sales charge (load) imposed on purchases	None
Maximum deferred sales charge (load)	None

Annual fund operating expenses *(expenses that you pay each year as a percentage of the value of your investment)

Management fees	0.18%
Distribution and/or service (12b-1) fees	None
Other expenses	None
Total annual fund operating expenses	0.18%
Fee waiver ¹	0.04%
Total annual fund operating expenses after fee waiver ¹	0.14%

* The fund invests in securities through an underlying master fund, Government Master Fund. This table reflects the direct expenses of the fund and its share of expenses of Government Master Fund, including management fees allocated from Government Master Fund. Management fees are comprised of investment advisory and administration fees.

 "Other expenses" do not include miscellaneous expenses, such as trustee expenses, which are deducted from the amount the fund pays UBS Asset Management (Americas) LLC ("UBS AM"). These other expenses are expected to be less than 0.01% of the average daily net assets of the fund.

¹ The fund and UBS AM have entered into a written fee waiver agreement pursuant to which UBS AM is contractually obligated to waive its management fees so that the total ordinary operating expenses of the fund through August 31, 2026, do not exceed 0.14%. The fee waiver agreement may be terminated by the fund's board at any time and also will terminate automatically upon the expiration or termination of the fund's contract with UBS AM.

Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the fund's operating expenses remain the same.*

Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	1 year	3 years	5 years	10 years
UBS Select Government Preferred Fund	$14	$54	$97	$226

* Except that the expenses reflect the effects of the fund's fee waiver agreement for the first year only. The fund invests in securities through an underlying master fund, Government Master Fund. This table reflects the direct expenses of the fund and its share of expenses of Government Master Fund, including management fees allocated from Government Master Fund.

Principal strategies

Principal investments

The fund is a money market fund and seeks to maintain a stable price of $1.00 per share. To do this, the fund invests in a diversified portfolio of high quality, US government money market instruments and in related repurchase agreements.

Money market instruments generally are short-term debt obligations. They also may include longer-term bonds that have variable interest rates or other special features (e.g., a put option) that give them the financial characteristics of short-term debt. The fund has adopted a policy to invest 99.5% or more of its total assets in cash, government securities, and/or repurchase agreements that are collateralized fully (i.e., collateralized by cash and/or government securities) in order to qualify as a "government money market fund" under federal regulations. Many US government money market instruments, including those in which the fund invests, pay income that is generally exempt from state and local income tax, although they may be subject to corporate franchise tax in some states. The fund generally seeks to invest in securities the income from which is considered "qualified interest income" under relevant tax law and guidance. Thus, the fund generally expects its distributions to be exempt from US withholding tax when paid to non-US investors. In addition, under normal circumstances, the fund invests at least 80% of its net assets in US government securities, including government securities subject to repurchase agreements. US government securities include direct obligations of the US Treasury (such as Treasury bills, notes or bonds) and obligations issued or guaranteed as to principal and interest (but not as to market value) by the US government, its agencies or its instrumentalities. Government securities subject to repurchase agreements include repurchase agreements that are collateralized fully by government securities.

The fund may invest a significant percentage (50% or more) of its assets in repurchase agreements. Repurchase agreements are transactions in which the fund purchases government securities and simultaneously commits to resell them to the same counterparty at a future time and at a price reflecting a market rate of interest. Income from repurchase agreements may not be exempt from state and local income taxation. Repurchase agreements often offer a higher yield than investments directly in government securities. In deciding whether an investment in a repurchase agreement is more attractive than a direct investment in government securities, the fund considers the possible loss of this tax advantage.

The fund invests in securities through an underlying master fund. The fund and its corresponding master fund have the same objective. Unless otherwise indicated, references to the fund include the master fund.

Management process

UBS Asset Management (Americas) LLC (“UBS AM”) acts as the investment advisor. As investment advisor, UBS AM makes the fund’s investment decisions. UBS AM selects money market instruments for the fund based on its assessment of relative values and changes in market and economic conditions.

UBS AM considers safety of principal and liquidity in selecting securities for the fund and thus may not buy securities that pay the highest yield.

Principal risks

All investments carry a certain amount of risk, and the fund cannot guarantee that it will achieve its investment objective.

You could lose money by investing in the fund. Although the fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in the fund is not a bank account and not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The fund’s sponsor is not required to reimburse the fund for losses, and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the fund at any time, including during periods of market stress.

Credit risk: Issuers of money market instruments or financial institutions that have entered into repurchase agreements with the fund may fail to make payments when due or complete transactions, or they may become less willing or less able to do so.

Interest rate risk: The value of the fund’s investments generally will fall when short-term interest rates rise, and its yield will tend to lag behind prevailing rates. Securities with longer maturities generally are subject to greater fluctuations in value. Changes in interest rates will likely affect the value of higher-quality securities more than lower-quality securities. The fund may face a heightened level of interest rate risk due to certain changes in general economic conditions, inflation and monetary policy, such as certain types of interest rate changes by the Federal Reserve. Any such changes could be sudden and could expose debt markets to significant volatility and reduced liquidity for fund investments.

US Government securities risk: There are different types of US government securities with different levels of credit risk, including the risk of default, depending on the nature of the particular government support for that security. For example, a US government-sponsored entity, such as Federal National Mortgage Association (“Fannie Mae”) or Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (“Freddie Mac”), although chartered or sponsored by an Act of Congress, may issue securities that are neither insured nor guaranteed by the US Treasury and are therefore riskier than those that are. Securities issued or guaranteed by the US Treasury are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States, but are guaranteed only as to the timely payment of interest and principal when held to maturity, and the market prices for such securities will fluctuate. Notwithstanding that these securities are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States, circumstances could arise that would prevent the timely payment of interest or principal, which could result in losses to the fund (e.g., Congressional debt ceiling impasses).

Repurchase agreements risk: Repurchase agreements carry certain risks not associated with direct investments in securities, including a possible decline in the market value of the underlying obligations and the risk that the counterparty does not meet its obligations under the agreement.

Market risk: The risk that the market value of the fund's investments may fluctuate, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably, as the markets fluctuate, which may affect the fund's share price. Market risk may affect a single issuer, industry, or sector of the economy, or it may affect the market as a whole. Moreover, changing market, economic, political and social conditions in one country or geographic region could adversely impact market, economic, political and social conditions in other countries or regions.

Liquidity risk: Although the fund invests in a diversified portfolio of high quality instruments, the fund's investments may become less liquid as a result of market developments or adverse investor perception. If this happens, the fund's ability to redeem its shares for cash may be affected.

Management risk: The risk that the investment strategies, techniques and risk analyses employed by the advisor may not produce the desired results. Consequently, the fund may underperform in comparison to other funds with similar objectives and investment strategies.

US withholding tax risk: The fund generally seeks to invest in securities the income from which is considered "qualified interest income" under relevant tax law and guidance. Thus, the fund generally expects its distributions to be exempt from US withholding tax when paid to non-US investors. However, there can be no assurance that all of the fund's distributions will be exempt from US withholding tax.

The minimum investment level for initial purchases generally is $50,000,000, except the minimum investment level for initial purchases made through UBS Financial Services Inc. brokerage accounts is $5,000,000, as determined on a household basis. Initial purchases made through UBS Financial Services Inc. fee-based advisory programs, subsequent purchases, and purchases through exchanges are not subject to a minimum investment level. Tax information

The dividends and distributions you receive from the fund are taxable and will generally be taxed as ordinary income, capital gains or some combination of both, unless you hold shares through a tax-exempt account or plan, such as an individual retirement account or 401(k) plan, in which case dividends and distributions on your shares generally will be taxed when withdrawn from the tax-exempt account or plan.

Payments to broker-dealers and other financial intermediaries

If you purchase the fund through a broker-dealer or other financial intermediary (such as a bank), UBS AM and/or its affiliates may pay the intermediary for the sale of fund shares and related services, or other shareholder services. These payments may create a conflict of interest by influencing the broker-dealer or other intermediary and your financial advisor to recommend the fund over another investment. Ask your financial advisor or visit your financial intermediary's website for more information.

The fund invests in securities through an underlying master fund. The fund and its corresponding master fund have the same objective. Unless otherwise indicated, references to the fund include the master fund.

Management process

UBS Asset Management (Americas) LLC (“UBS AM”) acts as the investment advisor. As investment advisor, UBS AM makes the fund’s investment decisions. UBS AM selects money market instruments for the fund based on its assessment of relative values and changes in market and economic conditions.

UBS AM considers safety of principal and liquidity in selecting securities for the fund and thus may not buy securities that pay the highest yield.

Principal risks

All investments carry a certain amount of risk, and the fund cannot guarantee that it will achieve its investment objective.

You could lose money by investing in the fund. Although the fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in the fund is not a bank account and not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The fund’s sponsor is not required to reimburse the fund for losses, and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the fund at any time, including during periods of market stress.

Money market instruments generally have a low risk of loss, but they are not risk-free. The principal risks presented by an investment in the fund are:

Credit risk: Issuers of money market instruments may fail to make payments when due, or they may become less willing or less able to do so.

Interest rate risk: The value of the fund’s investments generally will fall when short-term interest rates rise, and its yield will tend to lag behind prevailing rates. Securities with longer maturities generally are subject to greater fluctuations in value. Changes in interest rates will likely affect the value of higher-quality securities more than lower-quality securities. The fund may face a heightened level of interest rate risk due to certain changes in general economic conditions, inflation and monetary policy, such as certain types of interest rate changes by the Federal Reserve. Any such changes could be sudden and could expose debt markets to significant volatility and reduced liquidity for fund investments.

US Government securities risk: There are different types of US government securities with different levels of credit risk, including the risk of default, depending on the nature of the particular government support for that security. Securities issued or guaranteed by the US Treasury are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States, but are guaranteed only as to the timely payment of interest and principal when held to maturity, and the market prices for such securities will fluctuate. Notwithstanding that these securities are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States, circumstances could arise that would prevent the timely payment of interest or principal, which could result in losses to the fund (e.g., Congressional debt ceiling impasses).

Market risk: The risk that the market value of the fund's investments may fluctuate, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably, as the markets fluctuate, which may affect the fund's share price. Market risk may affect a single issuer, industry, or sector of the economy, or it may affect the market as a whole. Moreover, changing market, economic, political and social conditions in one country or geographic region could adversely impact market, economic, political and social conditions in other countries or regions.

Liquidity risk: Although the fund invests in a diversified portfolio of high quality instruments, the fund's investments may become less liquid as a result of market developments or adverse investor perception. If this happens, the fund's ability to redeem its shares for cash may be affected.

Management risk: The risk that the investment strategies, techniques and risk analyses employed by the advisor may not produce the desired results. Consequently, the fund may underperform in comparison to other funds with similar objectives and investment strategies.

US withholding tax risk: The fund generally seeks to invest in securities the income from which is considered "qualified interest income" under relevant tax law and guidance. Thus, the fund generally expects its distributions to be exempt from US withholding tax when paid to non-US investors. However, there can be no assurance that all of the fund's distributions will be exempt from US withholding tax.

Investment advisor

UBS AM serves as the investment advisor to the fund.

Purchase & sale of fund shares

If you are buying or selling fund shares directly, you may do so by calling the fund's transfer agent at 1-888-547 FUND. You may also buy and sell fund shares through financial intermediaries who are authorized to accept purchase and sales orders on behalf of the fund. This includes the ability to buy fund shares through a UBS Financial Services Inc. Financial Advisor using that firm's automated order entry system. Purchases of Class P Shares are not subject to a minimum investment level. The minimum investment level for initial purchases of Class T Shares generally is $5,000,000. Subsequent purchases and purchases through exchanges of Class T Shares are not subject to a minimum investment level. Class P shares are available only to certain types of investors. Shares of the fund may be redeemed in the same manner as they were purchased (i.e., directly or through a financial intermediary, including, for Class T Shares, through UBS Financial Services Inc.'s automated order entry system). Shares can be purchased and redeemed on any business day on which the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the New York Stock Exchange and the principal bond markets (as recommended by the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association) are open.

Tax information

The dividends and distributions you receive from the fund are taxable and will generally be taxed as ordinary income, capital gains or some combination of both, unless you hold shares through a tax-exempt account or plan, such as an individual retirement account or 401(k) plan, in which case dividends and distributions on your shares generally will be taxed when withdrawn from the tax-exempt account or plan.

Payments to broker-dealers and other financial intermediaries

If you purchase the fund through a broker-dealer or other financial intermediary (such as a bank), UBS AM and/or its affiliates may pay the intermediary for the sale of fund shares and related services, or other shareholder services. These payments may create a conflict of interest by influencing the broker-dealer or other intermediary and your financial advisor to recommend the fund over another investment. Ask your financial advisor or visit your financial intermediary's website for more information.

Additional information about the investment objectives

Each of UBS Select Government Preferred Fund's and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund's investment objective may not be changed without shareholder approval. The investment objective of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund is non-fundamental and may be changed by the fund's board at any time without shareholder approval.

Additional information about investment strategies

UBS Select Government Preferred Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing in a diversified portfolio of high quality, US government money market instruments and in related repurchase agreements, which generally are short-term debt obligations. They also may include longer-term bonds that have variable interest rates or other special features (e.g., a put option) that give them the financial characteristics of short-term debt. Many US government money market instruments, including those in which the fund invests, pay income that is generally exempt from state and local income tax, although they may be subject to corporate franchise tax in some states. The fund generally seeks to invest in securities the income from which is considered "qualified interest income" under relevant tax law and guidance. Thus, the fund generally expects its distributions to be exempt from US withholding tax when paid to non-US investors. UBS Select Government Preferred Fund may invest a significant percentage (50% or more) of its assets in repurchase agreements. Repurchase agreements are transactions in which the fund purchases government securities and simultaneously commits to resell them to the same counterparty at a future time and at a price reflecting a market rate of interest. Income from repurchase agreements may not be exempt from state and local income taxation. Repurchase agreements often offer a higher yield than investments directly in government securities. In deciding whether an investment in a repurchase agreement is more attractive than a direct investment in government securities, the fund considers the possible loss of this tax advantage.

UBS Select Government Preferred Fund's board has determined that the fund will operate as a "government money market fund" pursuant to Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("Rule 2a-7"). Therefore, the fund has adopted a policy to invest 99.5% or more of its total assets in cash, government securities, and/or repurchase agreements that are collateralized fully (i.e., collateralized with cash and/or government securities). As a "government money market fund," the fund (1) is permitted to use the amortized cost method of valuation to seek to maintain a $1.00 share price, and (2) is not subject to a liquidity fee on fund redemptions which might apply to other types of funds under certain circumstances. (In conformance with Rule 2a-7, UBS Select Government Preferred Fund's board has reserved its ability to change this policy with respect to liquidity fees, but such change would only become effective after shareholders were provided with specific advance notice of a change in the fund's policy and have the opportunity to redeem their shares in accordance with Rule 2a-7 before the policy change became effective.)

In addition, under normal circumstances, UBS Select Government Preferred Fund invests at least 80% of its net assets in US government securities, including government securities subject to repurchase agreements. US government securities include direct obligations of the US Treasury (such as Treasury bills, notes or bonds) and obligations issued or guaranteed as to principal and interest (but not as to market value) by the US government, its agencies or its instrumentalities. Government securities subject to repurchase agreements include repurchase agreements that are collateralized fully by government securities. UBS Select Government Preferred Fund's 80% policy is a "non-fundamental" policy. This means that this investment policy may be changed by the fund's board without shareholder approval. However, UBS Select Government Preferred Fund has also adopted a policy to provide its shareholders with at least 60 days' prior written notice of any change to the 80% investment policy.

UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing at least 80% of its net assets (plus the amount of any borrowing for investment purposes) in securities issued by the US Treasury and in related repurchase agreements. While under normal circumstances UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund expects to invest substantially all of its assets in securities issued by the US Treasury and in related repurchase agreements, under unusual circumstances, the fund may invest a portion of its assets in other types of government securities.

UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund's board has determined that the fund will operate as a "government money market fund" under Rule 2a-7. Therefore, in addition to the 80% policy referenced above, the fund has adopted a policy to invest 99.5% or more of its total assets in cash, government securities, and/or repurchase agreements that are collateralized fully (i.e., collateralized with cash and/or government securities). As a "government money market fund" under Rule 2a-7, the fund (1) is permitted to use the amortized cost method of valuation to seek to maintain a $1.00 share price, and (2) is not subject to a liquidity fee on fund redemptions which might apply to other types of funds under certain circumstances. (In conformance with Rule 2a-7, UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund's board has reserved its ability to change this policy with respect to liquidity fees, but such change would only become effective after shareholders were provided with specific advance notice of a change in the fund's policy and have the opportunity to redeem their shares in accordance with Rule 2a-7 before the policy change became effective.)

UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund's 80% policy is a "non-fundamental" policy. This means that this investment policy may be changed by the fund's board without shareholder approval. However, UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund has also adopted a policy to provide its shareholders with at least 60 days' prior written notice of any change to the 80% investment policy.

UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing, under normal circumstances, exclusively in securities issued by the US Treasury and may also hold cash. Many US government money market instruments, including those in which the fund invests, pay income that is generally exempt from state and local income tax, although they may be subject to corporate franchise tax in some states. UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund may also hold cash, including cash earning interest held at the fund's custodian. Interest income received by the fund from cash held at the custodian would not qualify for the state and local income tax exemption applicable to certain dividends paid by the fund that are derived from interest income with respect to US government securities. UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund generally seeks to invest in securities the income from which is considered "qualified interest income" under relevant tax law and guidance. Thus, the fund generally expects its distributions to be exempt from US withholding tax when paid to non-US investors.

UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund's board has determined that the fund will operate as a "government money market fund" under Rule 2a-7. Therefore, the fund has adopted a policy to invest 99.5% or more of its total assets in cash, government securities, and/or repurchase agreements that are collateralized fully (i.e., collateralized with cash and/or government securities); however, as noted above, the fund expects to further limit its investments, and under normal circumstances, the fund invests exclusively in a diversified portfolio of high quality, US Treasury money market instruments and may also hold cash. As a “government money market fund” under Rule 2a-7, the fund (1) is permitted to use the amortized cost method of valuation to seek to maintain a $1.00 share price, and (2) is not subject to a liquidity fee which might apply to other types of funds under certain circumstances. (In conformance with Rule 2a-7, the fund’s board has reserved its ability to change this policy with respect to liquidity fees, but such change would only become effective after shareholders were provided with specific advance notice of a change in the fund’s policy and have the opportunity to redeem their shares in accordance with Rule 2a-7 before the policy change became effective.)

UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund’s policy to, under normal circumstances, invest exclusively in securities issued by the US Treasury is a “non-fundamental” policy. This means that this investment policy may be changed by the fund’s board without shareholder approval. However, UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund has also adopted a policy to provide its shareholders with at least 60 days’ prior written notice of any change to this investment policy.

Like all money market funds, each of the funds is subject to maturity, quality, diversification and liquidity requirements pursuant to Rule 2a-7. Each of the funds’ investment strategies are designed to comply with these requirements. Each of the funds may invest in high quality, short-term, US dollardenominated money market instruments paying a fixed, variable or floating interest rate.

UBS AM may use a number of professional money management techniques to respond to changing economic and money market conditions and to shifts in fiscal and monetary policy. These techniques include varying each fund’s composition and weighted average maturity based upon UBS AM’s assessment of the relative values of various money market instruments and future interest rate patterns. UBS AM also may buy or sell money market instruments to take advantage of yield differences.

Each of the funds may maintain a rating from one or more rating agencies that provide ratings on money market funds. There can be no assurance that a fund will maintain any particular rating or maintain it with a particular rating agency. To maintain a rating, UBS AM may manage a fund more conservatively or differently than if it were not rated.

Additional information about principal risks

The main risks of investing in the funds are described below. As indicated below, not all of these risks apply to each fund. The fund(s) to which the main risks apply are noted below.

Other risks of investing in a fund, along with further details about some of the risks described below, are discussed in the funds’ Statement of Additional Information (“SAI”). Information on how you can obtain the SAI can be found on the back cover of this prospectus.

Credit risk (All funds). Credit risk is the risk that the issuer or guarantor of money market instruments, or the counterparty to a transaction, is unable or unwilling to meet its financial obligations. Even if an issuer or counterparty does not default on a payment, an investment’s value may decline if the market believes that the issuer or counterparty has become less able, or less willing, to make payments on time. Moreover, in a rising interest rate environment, the risk that such issuer or guarantor may default on its obligations is heightened. Even the highest quality investments are subject to some credit risk. The credit quality of an issuer or counterparty can change rapidly due to market developments and may affect the fund's share price.

Interest rate risk (All funds). The value of a fund's investments generally can be expected to fall when short-term interest rates rise and to rise when short-term interest rates fall. Interest rate risk is the risk that interest rates will rise, so that the value of a fund's investments will fall. Also, a fund's yield will tend to lag behind changes in prevailing short-term interest rates. This means that a fund's income will tend to rise more slowly than increases in short-term interest rates. Similarly, when short-term interest rates are falling, a fund's income generally will tend to fall more slowly. Securities with longer maturities generally are subject to greater fluctuations in value. Changes in interest rates will likely affect the value of higher-quality securities more than lower-quality securities. A substantial increase in interest rates may have an adverse impact on the liquidity and valuation of a security, especially those with longer maturities. Interest rate changes can be sudden and unpredictable and are influenced by a number of factors, including government policy, monetary policy, inflation expectations, perceptions of risk, and supply and demand for fixed-income securities. There can be no guarantee that any particular government or central bank policy will be continued (or discontinued) or changed, nor that any such policy will have the desired effect on interest rates.

A fund may face a heightened level of interest rate risk due to certain changes in monetary policy, such as certain types of interest rate changes by the Federal Reserve. The risks associated with changing interest rates may have unpredictable effects on the markets and a fund's investments. A sudden or unpredictable increase in interest rates may cause volatility in the market and may decrease liquidity in the money market securities markets, making it harder for a fund to sell its money market investments at an advantageous time. Decreased market liquidity also may make it more difficult to value some or all of a fund's money market securities holdings.

Market risk (All funds). The risk that the market value of a fund's investments will fluctuate as the stock and fixed-income markets fluctuate. Market risk may affect a single issuer, industry or sector of the economy, or it may affect the market as a whole. In addition, turbulence in financial markets and reduced liquidity in equity and/or fixed-income markets may negatively affect a fund. Global economies and financial markets are becoming increasingly interconnected, and conditions and events in one country, region or financial market may adversely impact issuers in a different country, region or financial market. Events such as war, acts of terrorism, natural and environmental disasters, recessions, rapid inflation, cyber-attacks or incidents, the imposition of international sanctions, trade disputes and changes in trade regulation (including tariffs or other restrictions on trade), elevated levels of government debt, internal unrest and discord, or pandemics or other public health threats could also significantly impact a fund and its investments. These risks may be magnified if certain events or developments adversely interrupt the global supply chain, and could affect companies worldwide.

Liquidity risk (All funds). The funds' investments may become less liquid due to market developments or adverse investor perception. When there is no willing buyer and investments cannot be readily sold at the desired time or price, the funds may have to accept a lower price or may not be able to sell an instrument at all. The inability to sell an instrument could adversely affect a fund's share price or prevent the fund from being able to take advantage of other investment opportunities. This risk may increase during an unusually high volume of redemption requests by even a few large investors or unusual market conditions, when prices of securities are negatively impacted by rapid or unexpected changes in interest rates, or as a result of government intervention, political, social, health, economic or market developments.

Management risk (All funds). There is the risk that the investment strategies, techniques and risk analyses employed by the advisor may not produce the desired results. The advisor may be incorrect in its assessment of a particular security or assessment of market, interest rate or other trends, which can result in losses to a fund. Consequently, the fund may underperform in comparison to other funds with similar objectives and investment strategies.

US Government securities risk (All funds). Credit risk is the risk that the issuer will not make principal or interest payments when they are due. There are different types of US government securities with different relative levels of credit risk depending on the nature of the particular government support for that security. US government securities may be supported by (1) the full faith and credit of the US; (2) the ability of the issuer to borrow from the US Treasury; (3) the credit of the issuing agency, instrumentality or government sponsored entity; (4) pools of assets (e.g., mortgage-backed securities); or (5) the US in some other way. Securities that do not carry the backing of the full faith and credit of the US government are subject to more credit risk than securities that are supported by the full faith and credit of the US government. In some cases, there is even the risk of default. For example, for asset-backed securities there is the risk those assets will decrease in value below the face value of the security. Similarly, for certain agency issued securities there is no guarantee the US government will support the agency if it is unable to meet its obligations. Further, the US government and its agencies and instrumentalities do not guarantee the market value of their securities; consequently, the value of such securities will fluctuate. This may be the case especially when there is any controversy or ongoing uncertainty regarding the status of negotiations in the US Congress to increase the statutory debt ceiling. If the US Congress is unable to negotiate an adjustment to the statutory debt ceiling, there is also the risk that the US government may default on payments on certain US government securities, including those held by the funds, which could have a material negative impact on the funds.

Repurchase agreements risk (UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund). Repurchase agreements carry certain risks not associated with direct investments in securities, including a possible decline in the market value of the underlying obligations. If their value becomes less than the repurchase price, plus any agreed-upon additional amount, the counterparty must provide additional collateral so that at all times the collateral is at least equal to the repurchase price plus any agreed-upon additional amount. Repurchase agreements also carry the risk that the counterparty will not fulfill its contractual obligations.

US withholding tax risk (UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund). UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund generally seek to invest in securities the income from which is considered “qualified interest income” under relevant tax law and guidance. Thus, each fund generally expects its distributions to be exempt from US withholding tax when paid to non-US investors. However, there can be no assurance that all of a fund’s distributions will be exempt from US withholding tax. Non-US investors should see the sections entitled “Dividends and taxes” and sub-section “Taxes” for more information.

Risk associated with the fund holding cash as a part of its investment program (UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund). UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund will generally hold a portion of its assets in cash for operational purposes. Cash positions may hurt performance and may subject the fund to additional risks and costs, such as increased exposure to the custodian bank holding the assets and fees imposed for large cash balances. In addition, interest income received by the fund from cash held at the custodian would not qualify for the state and local income tax exemption applicable to certain dividends paid by the fund that are derived from interest income with respect to US government securities.

Additional (non-principal) risks

Securities lending risk (All funds). Securities lending involves the lending of portfolio securities owned by a fund to qualified broker-dealers and financial institutions. When lending portfolio securities, a fund initially will require the borrower to provide the fund with collateral, most commonly cash, which the fund will invest. Although a fund invests this collateral in a conservative manner, it is possible that it could lose money from such an investment or fail to earn sufficient income from its investment to cover the fee or rebate that it has agreed to pay the borrower. Loans of securities also involve a risk that the borrower may fail to return the securities or deliver the proper amount of collateral, which may result in a loss to a fund. In addition, in the event of bankruptcy of the borrower, a fund could experience losses or delays in recovering the loaned securities. In some cases, these risks may be mitigated by an indemnification provided by the funds' lending agent.

Temporary and defensive positioning (All funds). During adverse market conditions or when the advisor believes there is an insufficient supply of appropriate money market securities in which to invest, a fund may temporarily hold uninvested cash in lieu of such investments. During periods when such temporary or defensive positions are held, a fund may not be able to fully pursue its investment objective. Such positions may also subject a fund to additional costs and risks, such as increased exposure to cash held at a custodian bank.

Cybersecurity risk (All funds). The funds, like other business organizations, are susceptible to operational, information security and related risks through breaches in cybersecurity. In general, cybersecurity failures or breaches of a fund or its service providers or the issuers of securities in which a fund invests may result from deliberate attacks or unintentional events and may arise from external or internal sources. Cybersecurity breaches may involve unauthorized access to a fund's digital information systems (e.g., through "hacking" or malicious software coding), but may also result from outside attacks such as denial-of-service attacks (i.e., efforts to make network services unavailable to intended users). Cybersecurity failures or breaches affecting a fund's investment advisor or any other service providers (including, but not limited to, fund accountants, custodians, transfer agents and financial intermediaries) have the ability to cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses, interference with a fund's ability to calculate its net asset value, impediments to trading, the inability of fund shareholders to transact business, destruction to equipment and systems, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, and/or additional compliance costs. In addition, substantial costs may be incurred in order to prevent any cybersecurity breaches in the future. Geopolitical tensions may increase the scale and sophistication of deliberate attacks, particularly those from nation-states or from entities with nation-state backing. While the funds' advisor has established business continuity plans and risk management systems seeking to address system breaches or failures, there are inherent limitations in such plans and systems. The funds cannot control the cybersecurity plans and systems of its service providers, counterparties, and other third parties whose activities affect the funds.

Managing your fund account

The following pages tell you how to buy, sell and exchange shares of each fund.

If you are buying fund shares directly or through financial intermediaries, you should refer to the following section regarding buying, selling or exchanging fund shares in most cases. If you are buying shares through UBS Financial Services Inc.'s automated purchasing account system, you should direct your request to your financial advisor and refer to the sections below beginning "UBS Financial Services Inc.: automated purchasing accounts" on page 32 of this prospectus.

Buying shares

The funds accept the settlement of purchase orders only in available federal funds deposited by a commercial bank in an account at a Federal Reserve Bank, which can be transferred to a similar account of another bank in one day and may be made immediately available to a fund through its custodian.

You may buy fund shares through financial intermediaries who are authorized to accept purchase orders on behalf of the funds. If you buy fund shares through a financial intermediary who holds them in its own name on your behalf (in "street name"), the financial intermediary is responsible for sending the order to the transfer agent. You may not call the funds' transfer agent directly if your shares are held in "street name," but should direct all your requests to buy, sell or exchange shares directly to your financial intermediary.

If you do not use a financial intermediary, you may also buy fund shares directly by calling the funds' transfer agent, BNY Mellon Investment Servicing (US) Inc. ("BNY Mellon"), at 1-888-547 FUND and speaking to a representative. If you buy fund shares directly, you will need to complete an account application in connection with your initial purchase. You can get a copy of the application from UBS Asset Management (US) Inc., the fund's distributor ("UBS AM (US)"), or a financial intermediary or by calling the transfer agent toll-free 1-888-547 FUND.

You buy shares at the net asset value next determined after receipt of your purchase order in good form by the transfer agent (or, if applicable, by a financial intermediary). A fund must receive payment on the same day. Your purchase order will be effective only if (1) you or your financial intermediary wires payment in federal funds on the same business day that you place your order, and (2) the wire is actually credited to the fund's bank account by a Federal Reserve Bank on that day. Otherwise, the order will be rejected. A business day is any day on which the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE"), and the principal bond markets (as recommended by the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association ("SIFMA")) are open. (Holidays are listed on Appendix A to this prospectus.)

The charts below show processing times by which orders received by the funds' transfer agent will normally be executed. All times shown below represent Eastern time. Financial intermediaries may impose additional guidelines for when orders must be placed.

These “early closing” days most often occur on a business day prior to a national holiday.

If your fund account balance has fallen below the respective minimum initial investment amount indicated above, UBS AM (US) reserves the right to reject your purchase order to add to the account unless the account balance will be at least such amount after that purchase.

Electronic trade entry. The funds may offer an electronic trade order entry capability to eligible institutional investors who meet certain conditions. This option is not available if your shares are held in “street name,” as described above in “Buying shares.” For more information about this option and its availability, contact your investment professional at your financial intermediary, or contact the transfer agent at 1-888-547 FUND.

Selling shares

You may sell your shares through financial intermediaries that are authorized to accept redemption requests. If you sell your shares through a financial intermediary who holds them in its own name on your behalf (in “street name”), the financial intermediary is then responsible for sending the order to the transfer agent. You may not call the funds’ transfer agent directly if your shares are held in “street name,” but should direct all your requests to buy, sell or exchange shares directly to your financial intermediary.

You may also sell your shares by calling the transfer agent directly at 1-888-547 FUND and speaking with a representative.

You sell shares based upon the net asset value next determined after receipt of your redemption order in good form by the transfer agent (or, if applicable, by a financial intermediary). A redemption order will not be in good form unless it is received by the fund’s transfer agent prior to the deadlines set forth below. Orders that are not received in good form will not be executed at the net asset value next determined after receipt of the order. Orders to sell shares of the funds received by the funds’ transfer agent before 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time) will normally be executed as of 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time).

The charts below show processing times by which orders received by the funds’ transfer agent will normally be executed. All times shown below represent Eastern time.

For UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund:

If a redemption order is received:	The order will normally be executed as of:
By 9:00 a.m.	9:00 a.m.
After 9:00 a.m. and before 10:00 a.m.	10:00 a.m.
After 10:00 a.m. and before 11:00 a.m.	11:00 a.m.
After 11:00 a.m. and before 12:00 (noon)	12:00 (noon)
After 12:00 (noon) and before 1:00 p.m.	1:00 p.m.
After 1:00 p.m. and before 2:00 p.m.	2:00 p.m.
After 2:00 p.m. and before 3:00 p.m.	3:00 p.m.
After 3:00 p.m. and before 4:00 p.m.	4:00 p.m.
After 4:00 p.m. and before 5:00 p.m.	5:00 p.m.

For UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund:

If a redemption order is received:	The order will normally be executed as of:
By 9:00 a.m.	9:00 a.m.
After 9:00 a.m. and before 10:00 a.m.	10:00 a.m.
After 10:00 a.m. and before 11:00 a.m.	11:00 a.m.
After 11:00 a.m. and before 12:00 (noon)	12:00 (noon)
After 12:00 (noon) and before 1:00 p.m.	1:00 p.m.
After 1:00 p.m. and before 2:00 p.m.	2:00 p.m.
After 2:00 p.m. and before 2:30 p.m.	2:30 p.m.

As noted above under “Buying shares,” each fund may advance the time for the transfer agent’s receipt of orders to sell shares (e.g., days on which securities markets close early prior to a national holiday).

Your sales proceeds will be paid in federal funds. Proceeds from the sale will be wired to one or more accounts you have designated. If a redemption order is received by 5:00 p.m. (Eastern time) for UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund, or by 2:30 p.m. (Eastern time) for UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund, the proceeds ordinarily will be transmitted in federal funds on the same day. If you sell all the shares you own, dividends accrued for the month to date will be paid in federal funds and wired on the same day to the accounts noted above.

If the transfer agent receives your order to sell shares late in the day, it will process your order and initiate a wire. However, your bank account or your account at your financial intermediary may not receive the proceeds in a timely manner if a Federal Reserve Bank is experiencing delay in transfer of funds. Neither the funds, UBS AM, UBS AM (US), a financial intermediary nor the transfer agent is responsible for the performance of a bank or any of its intermediaries.

The transfer agent will process orders to sell shares only if you have on file with it a properly completed account application with a signature guarantee (if you have previously completed one in connection with a direct purchase of fund shares), or other authentication acceptable to the transfer agent. The account application requires you to designate the account(s) for wiring sales proceeds. You must submit any change in the designated account(s) for sale proceeds in a form acceptable to the transfer agent. The transfer agent will not place the sales order if the information you provide does not correspond to the information on your application or account records.

A signature guarantee may be obtained from a financial institution, broker, dealer or clearing agency that is a participant in one of the medallion programs recognized by the Securities Transfer Agents Association. These are: Securities Transfer Agents Medallion Program (STAMP), Stock Exchanges Medallion Program (SEMP) and the New York Stock Exchange Medallion Signature Program (MSP). The transfer agent will not accept signature guarantees that are not part of these programs.

Typically, redemptions of fund shares will be made by the funds wiring cash payments. The funds typically expect to meet redemption requests by using holdings of cash or cash equivalents and/or proceeds from the sale or maturity of portfolio holdings. Although not routinely used by a fund, a fund reserves the right to pay proceeds "in kind" (i.e., payment in securities rather than cash) if the investment you are redeeming is large enough to affect a fund's operations or in particularly stressed market conditions. In these cases, you might incur transaction costs converting the securities to cash. The securities included in a redemption in kind may include illiquid securities that may not be immediately saleable.

If you have additional questions on selling shares, you should contact your investment professional at your financial intermediary or call the transfer agent at 1-888-547 FUND.

Exchanging shares

You may exchange shares of a fund (except Class P Shares of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund) for shares of another fund offered in this prospectus (except Class P Shares of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund) or of UBS Prime Preferred

Fund. UBS Prime Preferred Fund has different eligibility requirements for purchase, and you may not be able to exchange your shares if you are not eligible to purchase shares of that fund, which limits investors to "natural persons" as described in its prospectus.

You may not exchange Class P Shares of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund for shares of other funds.

The minimums noted above in "Buying shares" do not apply to initial purchases made through an exchange of shares. All exchanges are based upon the net asset value that is next calculated after the fund receives your order.

Exchange orders for each of UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund are normally accepted up until 5:00 p.m. (Eastern time). Exchange orders for UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund are normally accepted up until 2:30 p.m. (Eastern time). Exchange orders received after those times, as applicable, will not be effected, and you or your financial intermediary will have to place an exchange order before that time on the following business day if you still wish to effect an exchange. If you exchange all your fund shares, the dividends accrued on those shares for the month to date will also be invested in the shares of the other fund into which the exchange is made.

You can place an exchange order through a financial intermediary. The financial intermediary is then responsible for sending the order to the transfer agent. You may not call the funds' transfer agent directly if your shares are held in "street name," but should direct all your requests to buy, sell or exchange shares directly to your financial intermediary.

You can also place an exchange order by calling the transfer agent directly at 1-888-547 FUND and speaking with a representative.

Shareholders making their initial purchase of another fund through an exchange should allow more time. These exchange orders should be received by the transfer agent at least one half hour before the exchange order deadline to allow the transfer agent sufficient time to establish an account in the new fund. The transfer agent may not be able to effect the exchange if this extra time is not allotted.

The funds may modify or terminate the exchange privilege at any time.

Transfer of account limitations

If you hold your shares with UBS Financial Services Inc. or another securities firm, please note that if you change securities firms, you may not be able to transfer your fund shares to an account at the new securities firm. Fund shares may only be transferred to an account held with a securities dealer or financial intermediary that has entered into an agreement with the fund's principal underwriter. If you cannot transfer your shares to another firm, you may choose to hold the shares directly in your own name with the fund's transfer agent, BNY Mellon. Please contact your broker or Financial Advisor for information on how to transfer your shares to the fund's transfer agent. If you transfer your shares to the fund's transfer agent, the fund's principal underwriter may be named as the dealer of record, and you will receive ongoing account statements from BNY Mellon. Should you have any questions regarding the portability of your fund shares, please contact your broker or Financial Advisor.

Additional information about your account

may be reported on periodic account statements. These periodic statements may be sent monthly except that, if your only fund activity in a quarter was reinvestment of dividends, the activity may be reported on a quarterly rather than a monthly statement.

To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. If you do not provide the information requested, a fund may not be able to maintain your account. If a fund is unable to verify your identity (or that of another person(s) authorized to act on your behalf) within a reasonable time, the fund and UBS AM (US) reserve the right to close your account and/or take such other action they deem reasonable or required by law. If we decide to close your account for this reason, your fund shares will be redeemed at the net asset value per share next calculated after the account is closed, less any applicable fees. You may recognize a gain or loss on the redemption of your fund shares and you may incur a tax liability.

Upon receipt of a proper redemption request submitted in a timely manner and otherwise in accordance with the redemption procedures set forth in this prospectus, each fund will redeem the requested shares and make a payment to you in satisfaction thereof no later than the business day following the redemption request (under normal circumstances, on the same day). Each fund may postpone and/or suspend redemption and payment beyond one business day (but within seven calendar days) for any period during which there is a non-routine closure of Fedwire or applicable Federal Reserve Banks. In addition, each fund may also postpone or suspend redemption and payment as follows: (1) for any period (a) during which the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”) is closed other than customary weekend and holiday closings or (b) during which trading on the NYSE is restricted; (2) for any period during which an emergency exists as a result of which (a) disposal by the fund of securities owned by it is not reasonably practicable or (b) it is not reasonably practicable for the fund fairly to determine the net asset value of shares of the fund; (3) for any period during which the US Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) has, by rule or regulation, deemed that (a) trading shall be restricted or (b) an emergency exists; (4) for any period that the SEC may by order permit for your protection; or (5) for any period during which the fund, as part of a necessary liquidation of the fund, has properly postponed and/ or suspended redemption of shares and payment in accordance with federal securities laws.

A financial intermediary buying or selling shares for its customers is responsible for transmitting orders to the transfer agent in accordance with its customer agreements and the procedures noted above.

UBS AM (US) (not the funds) also may pay fees to entities that make shares of the funds available to others. The amount of these fees will be negotiated between UBS AM (US) and the entity.

In addition, financial advisors at UBS Financial Services Inc. (“Financial Advisors”) receive monthly production credits on all eligible average daily cash balances in sweep programs, money market funds, and UBS Bank USA Core Savings, if the client relationship meets certain monthly qualification criteria. These production credits are taken into account in the calculation of the applicable Financial Advisors’ grid rate schedule (which is used to determine a Financial Advisor’s compensation). For the relationship to qualify, one of two criteria must be met in clients’ securities accounts at UBS Financial Services Inc.: either (i) at least a certain amount of inflows using qualifying cash management services per month or (ii) at least a certain number of qualifying cash management transactions per month. Only activity and balances in eligible accounts, such as a UBS Resource Management Account and UBS Business Services Account BSA, within the relationship will be aggregated towards determining such qualifications and determine the cash balances. All advisory accounts, retirement accounts, and qualified plans are ineligible. Financial Advisors have an incentive to recommend eligible cash management services because average daily cash balances in eligible accounts where those qualifying services are used are included in the calculation of the Financial Advisor’s compensation. Other financial intermediaries through which a fund may be purchased/held may have other compensation arrangements with their staff, and an investor should consult with such other firm regarding questions about such arrangements, if any.

If you currently have an account at UBS Financial Services Inc. and prefer the features of an Automated Purchasing Account (as described below), ask your Financial Advisor to help you to open an Automated Purchasing Account. You will need to redeem your shares in your Direct Purchasing Account (as described below) and to transfer the proceeds to a new Automated Purchasing Account. More information regarding Automated Purchasing Accounts is provided below.

UBS Financial Services Inc.: automated purchasing accounts (excluding Class P Shares of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund)

Initial purchases made through UBS Financial Services Inc. can be made in one of two ways. The purchases can be made by your Financial Advisor directly with a fund (a “Direct Purchasing Account”) or can be entered through that firm’s order entry system (an “Automated Purchasing Account"). Your account will be established as an Automated Purchasing Account unless you instruct your Financial Advisor otherwise. Automated Purchasing Accounts will have certain benefits but do not have certain features available to Direct Purchasing Accounts.

If you have an Automated Purchasing Account, you should direct all your requests to buy, sell or exchange shares directly to your Financial Advisor. The following sections provide information regarding Automated Purchasing Accounts; procedures related to Direct Purchasing Accounts are described above under "Managing your fund account."

Buying shares

When you instruct your Financial Advisor to buy shares on your behalf, your account at UBS Financial Services Inc. will automatically be debited, and UBS Financial Services Inc. will wire funds on your behalf. Your Financial Advisor is responsible for making sure that your order is promptly sent to a fund.

Shares are available to Automated Purchasing Accounts as an economical and convenient means to invest short-term funds.

You buy shares at the net asset value next determined after receipt of your purchase order in good form by the transfer agent (or, if applicable, by a financial intermediary). The fund must receive payment on the same day. Your purchase order will be effective only if (1) UBS Financial Services Inc. wires payment in federal funds on the same business day that you place your order, and (2) the wire is actually credited to the fund's bank account by a Federal Reserve Bank on that day. Otherwise, the order will be rejected. A business day is any day on which the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the NYSE, and the principal bond markets (as recommended by SIFMA) are open. (Holidays are listed on Appendix A to this prospectus.)

The charts below show processing times by which orders received by the funds' transfer agent will normally be executed. All times shown below represent Eastern time.

Each fund may advance the time by which orders to buy or sell its shares must be received by the transfer agent on any day that the NYSE closes early because trading has been halted for the day. UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund will advance the final time by which orders to buy or sell shares must be received by the transfer agent to 3:00 p.m. (Eastern time) on those days that SIFMA has recommended that the bond markets close early. UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund will advance the final time by which orders to buy or sell shares must be received by the transfer agent to 12:00 p.m. (noon) (Eastern time) on those days that SIFMA has recommended that the bond markets close early. Appendix A to this prospectus lists the SIFMA US holiday “early closing” recommendations schedule for the remainder of 2025 and for 2026. These “early closing” days most often occur on a business day prior to a national holiday.

The funds, UBS AM and UBS AM (US) have the right to reject a purchase order and to suspend the offering of fund shares for a period of time or permanently.

Minimum investment. The minimum investment level for initial purchases of UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund generally is $50,000,000, except the minimum investment level for initial purchases made through UBS Financial Services Inc. brokerage accounts is $5,000,000, as determined on a household basis.

The minimum investment level for initial purchases of Class T Shares of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund generally is $5,000,000.

Initial purchases made through UBS Financial Services Inc. fee-based advisory programs, subsequent purchases, and purchases through exchanges are not subject to a minimum investment level.

UBS AM (US) may waive this minimum under other circumstances in its discretion. The funds may change their minimum investment requirements at any time. Investments must be denominated in US dollars.

If your fund account balance has fallen below the respective minimum initial investment amount indicated above, UBS AM (US) reserves the right to reject your purchase order to add to the account unless the account balance will be at least such amount after that purchase.

Selling shares

You must place your sell order directly with your Financial Advisor. Your Financial Advisor is responsible for making sure that your order is promptly sent to a fund.

You sell shares based upon the net asset value next determined after receipt of your redemption order in good form by the transfer agent (or, if applicable, by a financial intermediary). A redemption order will not be in good form unless it is received by the fund’s transfer agent prior to the deadlines set forth below. Orders that are not received in good form will not be executed at the net asset value next determined after receipt of the order. Orders to sell shares of the funds received by the funds’ transfer agent before 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time) will normally be executed as of 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time).

The charts below show processing times by which orders received by the funds' transfer agent will normally be executed. All times shown below represent Eastern time.

As noted above under "Buying shares," a fund may advance the time for the transfer agent's receipt of orders to sell shares (e.g., days on which securities markets close early prior to a national holiday).

Your sales proceeds will be paid in federal funds wired directly to UBS Financial Services Inc. for credit to your account ordinarily on the same day. If you sell all the shares you own, dividends accrued for the month to date will be paid in federal funds and wired or deposited on the same day.

If the transfer agent receives your order to sell shares late in the day, it will process your order and initiate a wire. However, your account at UBS Financial Services Inc. may not receive the proceeds in a timely manner if a Federal Reserve Bank is experiencing delay in transfer of funds. Neither the funds, UBS AM, UBS AM (US), UBS Financial Services Inc. nor the transfer agent is responsible for the performance of a bank or any of its intermediaries.

Typically, redemptions of fund shares will be made by the funds wiring cash payments or deposit into your account. The funds typically expect to meet redemption requests by using holdings of cash or cash equivalents and/or proceeds from the sale or maturity of portfolio holdings. Although not routinely used by a fund, a fund reserves the right to pay proceeds "in kind" (i.e., payment in securities rather than cash) if the investment you are redeeming is large enough to affect a fund's operations or in particularly stressed market conditions. In these cases, you might incur brokerage costs converting the securities to cash. The securities included in a redemption in kind may include illiquid securities that may not be immediately saleable.

If you have additional questions on selling shares, you should contact your Financial Advisor or call the transfer agent at 1-888-547 FUND.

Exchanging shares

You must place your exchange order directly with your Financial Advisor, who is responsible for sending the order to the transfer agent.

You may exchange shares of a fund (except Class P Shares of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund) for shares of another fund offered in this prospectus (except Class P Shares of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund) or of UBS Prime Preferred Fund. UBS Prime Preferred Fund has different eligibility requirements for purchase, and you may not be able to exchange your shares if you are not eligible to purchase shares of that fund, which limits investors to "natural persons" as described in its prospectus.

You may not exchange Class P Shares of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund for shares of other funds.

The minimums noted above in "Buying shares" do not apply to initial purchases made through an exchange of shares. All exchanges are based upon the net asset value that is next calculated after the fund receives your order.

Exchange orders for each of UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund are normally accepted up until 5:00 p.m. (Eastern time). Exchange orders for UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund are normally accepted up until 2:30 p.m. (Eastern time). Exchange orders received after those times, as applicable, will not be effected, and you will need to instruct your Financial Advisor to place an exchange order before that time on the following business day if you still wish to effect an exchange. If you exchange all your fund shares, the dividends accrued on those shares for the month to date will also be invested in the shares of the other fund into which the exchange is made.

Shareholders making their initial purchase of another fund through an exchange should allow more time. These exchange orders should be received by the transfer agent at least one half hour before the exchange order deadline to allow the transfer agent sufficient time to establish an account in the new fund. Otherwise the transfer agent may not be able to effect the exchange if this extra time is not allotted.

The funds may modify or terminate the exchange privilege at any time.

Transfer of account limitations

If you hold your shares with UBS Financial Services Inc. or another securities firm, please note that if you change securities firms, you may not be able to transfer your fund shares to an account at the new securities firm. Fund shares may only be transferred to an account held with a securities dealer or financial intermediary that has entered into an agreement with the fund's principal underwriter. If you cannot transfer your shares to another firm, you may choose to hold the shares directly in your own name with the fund's transfer agent, BNY Mellon. Please contact your broker or Financial Advisor for information on how to transfer your shares to the fund's transfer agent. If you transfer your shares to the fund's transfer agent, the fund's principal underwriter may be named as the dealer of record, and you will receive ongoing account statements from BNY Mellon. Should you have any questions regarding the portability of your fund shares, please contact your broker or Financial Advisor.

Additional information about your account

You will receive a confirmation of your initial purchase of fund shares, and subsequent transactions may be reported on periodic account statements. These periodic statements may be sent monthly except that, if your only fund activity in a quarter was reinvestment of dividends, the activity may be reported on a quarterly rather than a monthly statement.

To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. If you do not provide the information requested, a fund may not be able to maintain your account. If a fund is unable to verify your identity or that of another person(s) authorized to act on your behalf, the fund and UBS AM (US) reserve the right to close your account and/or take such other action they deem reasonable or required by law. Fund shares will be redeemed and valued in accordance with the net asset value next calculated after the determination has been made to close the account.

Upon receipt of a proper redemption request submitted in a timely manner and otherwise in accordance with the redemption procedures set forth in this prospectus, each fund will redeem the requested shares and make a payment to you in satisfaction thereof no later than the business day following the redemption request (under normal circumstances, on the same day). Each fund may postpone and/or suspend redemption and payment beyond one business day (but within seven calendar days) for any period during which there is a non-routine closure of Fedwire or applicable Federal Reserve Banks. In addition, each fund may also postpone or suspend redemption and payment as follows: (1) for any period (a) during which the NYSE is closed other than customary weekend and holiday closings or (b) during which trading on the NYSE is restricted; (2) for any period during which an emergency exists as a result of which (a) disposal by the fund of securities owned by it is not reasonably practicable or (b) it is not reasonably practicable for the fund fairly to determine the net asset value of shares of the fund; (3) for any period during which the SEC has, by rule or regulation, deemed that (a) trading shall be restricted or (b) an emergency exists; (4) for any period that the SEC may by order permit for your protection; or (5) for any period during which the fund, as part of a necessary liquidation of the fund, has properly postponed and/or suspended redemption of shares and payment in accordance with federal securities laws.

UBS AM (US) (not the funds) also may pay fees to entities that make shares of the funds available to others. The amount of these fees will be negotiated between UBS AM (US) and the entity.

In addition, financial advisors at UBS Financial Services Inc. ("Financial Advisors") receive monthly production credits on all eligible average daily cash balances in sweep programs, money market funds, and UBS Bank USA Core Savings, if the client relationship meets certain monthly qualification criteria. These production credits are taken into account in the calculation of the applicable Financial Advisors' grid rate schedule (which is used to determine a Financial Advisor's compensation). For the relationship to qualify, one of two criteria must be met in clients' securities accounts at UBS Financial Services Inc.: either (i) at least a certain amount of inflows using qualifying cash management services per month or (ii) at least a certain number of qualifying cash management transactions per month. Only activity and balances in eligible accounts, such as a UBS Resource Management Account and UBS Business Services Account BSA, within the relationship will be aggregated towards determining such qualifications and determine the cash balances. All advisory accounts, retirement accounts, and qualified plans are ineligible. Financial Advisors have an incentive to recommend eligible cash management services because average daily cash balances in eligible accounts where those qualifying services are used are included in the calculation of the Financial Advisor's compensation. Other financial intermediaries through which a fund may be purchased/held may have other compensation arrangements with their staff, and an investor should consult with such other firm regarding questions about such arrangements, if any.

If you currently have an Automated Purchasing Account and prefer the features of a Direct Purchasing Account as described above, ask your Financial Advisor to help you to open a Direct Purchasing Account. You need to complete an account application when establishing a Direct Purchasing Account.

Market timing

Frequent purchases and redemptions of fund shares could increase each fund's transaction costs, such as market spreads and custodial fees, and may interfere with the efficient management of each fund's portfolio, which could impact each fund's performance. However, money market funds are generally used by investors for short-term investments, often in place of bank checking or savings accounts or for cash management purposes. Investors value the ability to add and withdraw their funds quickly, without restriction. UBS AM (US) anticipates that shareholders will purchase and sell fund shares frequently because each fund is designed to offer investors a liquid cash option. UBS AM (US) also believes that money market funds, such as the funds offered in this prospectus, are not targets of abusive trading practices. For these reasons, the board has not adopted policies and procedures, or imposed redemption fees or other restrictions such as minimum holding periods, to discourage excessive or short-term trading of fund shares.

Other UBS funds that are managed by UBS AM that are not money market funds have approved policies and procedures designed to discourage and prevent abusive trading practices. For more information about market timing policies and procedures for these funds, please see the funds' prospectuses.

Pricing and valuation

The price of fund shares is based on net asset value. The net asset value per share is equal to the value of all the assets of the fund, minus the liabilities of the fund, divided by the number of shares outstanding.

In determining net asset value, each of Government Master Fund, Treasury Master Fund and 100% US Treasury Master Fund values its securities at their amortized cost (unless the fund's board (or UBS AM as valuation designee) determines that this does not represent fair value), and each of the funds buys the corresponding master fund's interests at the master fund's net asset value. The amortized cost method uses a constant amortization to maturity of the difference between the cost of the instrument to a fund and the amount due at maturity. The net asset value per share of each of the funds is expected to be $1.00, although this value is not guaranteed.

The net asset value per share of each of UBS Select Government Preferred Fund and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund is normally determined nine times each business day, every hour on the hour, beginning at 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time) and concluding at 5:00 p.m. (Eastern time). The net asset value per share of UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund is normally determined seven times each business day, every hour on the hour (except for its last daily pricing), beginning at 9:00 a.m. (Eastern time) and concluding at 2:30 p.m. (Eastern time).

Your price for buying or selling shares will be based upon the net asset value that is next calculated after the fund receives your order.

On any day that a fund determines to advance the time by which orders to buy or sell its shares must be received by the transfer agent as described above under "Buying shares," the time for determination of the fund's net asset value per share will be as of the same time the fund has determined to cease accepting orders to buy or sell its shares. The fund will not price its shares again on that business day even though it normally prices its shares more frequently.

The funds' board has designated UBS AM as the valuation designee pursuant to Rule 2a-5 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, and delegated to UBS AM the responsibility for making fair value determinations with respect to a fund's portfolio securities. UBS AM, as the valuation designee, is responsible for periodically assessing any material risks associated with the determination of the fair value of a fund's investments; establishing and applying fair value methodologies; testing the appropriateness of fair value methodologies; and overseeing and evaluating third-party pricing services. UBS AM has a valuation committee to assist with its designated responsibilities as valuation designee. The types of securities and other instruments for which such fair value pricing may be necessary include, but are not limited to: securities of an issuer that has entered into a restructuring; fixed-income securities that have gone into default and for which there is no current market value quotation; Section 4(a)(2) commercial paper; securities or instruments that are restricted as to transfer or resale; illiquid instruments; and instruments for which the prices or values available do not, in the judgment of UBS AM, represent current market value. The need to fair value a fund's portfolio securities may also result from low trading volume in foreign markets or thinly traded securities or instruments. Various factors may be reviewed in order to make a good faith determination of a security's or instrument's fair value. These factors include, but are not limited to, fundamental analytical data relating to the investment; the nature and duration of restrictions on disposition of the securities or instruments; and the evaluation of forces which influence the market in which the securities or instruments are purchased and sold.

Each fund's portfolio holding consists of an interest in the master fund in which the fund invests. The value of such portfolio holding reflects each fund's proportionate interest in the net assets of its corresponding master fund. Each master fund generally values securities and other instruments in a manner as described in that master fund's prospectus or similar document.

Management

Investment advisor

UBS Asset Management (Americas) LLC ("UBS AM") acts as the investment advisor and administrator for Government Master Fund, Treasury Master Fund and 100% US Treasury Master Fund, which are the master funds in which the funds invest their assets. UBS AM also acts as the administrator for the funds. As investment advisor, UBS AM makes the master funds' investment decisions. It buys and sells securities for the master funds and conducts the research that leads to the purchase and sale decisions.

UBS AM is a Delaware limited liability company with its principal business offices located at One North Wacker Drive, Chicago, IL 60606, and at 787 Seventh Avenue, New York, NY 10019. UBS AM is an investment adviser registered with the SEC. UBS AM is an indirect asset management subsidiary of UBS Group AG (“UBS”). As of June 30, 2025, UBS AM had approximately $563 billion in assets under management. UBS AM is a member of the UBS Asset Management Division, which had approximately $2.0 trillion in assets under management world-wide as of June 30, 2025. UBS is an internationally diversified organization headquartered in Zurich, Switzerland and with operations in many areas of the financial services group of industries.

Advisory and administration fees

UBS AM’s contract fee for the advisory and administrative services it provides to each master fund is based on the following fee schedule:

$0 – $30 billion	0.1000%
Above $30 billion up to $40 billion	0.0975%
Above $40 billion up to $50 billion	0.0950%

UBS AM’s contract fee for the administrative services it provides to each feeder fund is 0.08% of each feeder fund’s average daily net assets.

In exchange for these fees, UBS AM has agreed to bear UBS Select Government Preferred Fund’s and UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund’s expenses other than interest, taxes, extraordinary costs and the cost of securities purchased and sold by such funds, including any transaction costs. Although UBS AM is not obligated to pay the fees and expenses of such funds’ independent trustees, it is contractually obligated to reduce its management fee in an amount equal to those fees and expenses. UBS AM estimates that these fees and expenses will be less than 0.01% of each such fund’s average daily net assets. UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund bears all expenses incurred in its operation that are not specifically assumed by UBS AM.

UBS AM received an effective fee of 0.14%, 0.14% and 0.10% of the average daily net assets of each of UBS Select Government Preferred Fund, UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund and UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund, respectively, for its services as investment advisor and administrator in the funds’ last fiscal year which ended April 30, 2025 (includes fees allocated from related master fund, net of fee waivers/expense reimbursements, if any). These fees reflect fee waivers and/or expense reimbursements (if applicable) pursuant to a fee waiver/expense reimbursement agreement.

UBS AM may voluntarily waive fees from time to time. For example, UBS AM may voluntarily undertake to waive fees in the event that fund yields drop below a certain level. Once started, there is no guarantee that UBS AM would continue to voluntarily waive a portion of its fees. Waivers may impact a fund’s performance.

A discussion regarding the basis for the Government Master Fund’s and Treasury Master Fund’s board’s approval of the Management Agreement between UBS AM and Master Trust with respect to Government Master Fund and Treasury Master Fund is available in the funds’ Form N-CSR for the fiscal period ended October 31, 2024.

A discussion regarding the basis for the 100% US Treasury Master Fund’s board’s approval of the Management Agreement between UBS AM and Master Trust with respect to the 100% US Treasury Master Fund is available in the fund’s Form N-CSR for the fiscal year ended April 30, 2024.

Master-feeder structure

UBS Select Government Preferred Fund, UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund and UBS Select 100% US Treasury Preferred Fund are “feeder funds” that invest all of their assets in “master funds”— Government Master Fund, Treasury Master Fund and 100% US Treasury Master Fund, respectively. The feeder funds and their respective master funds have the same investment objectives.

The master funds may accept investments from other feeder funds. Each feeder fund bears the master fund’s expenses in proportion to their investment in the master fund. Each feeder fund can set its own transaction minimums, feeder fund-specific expenses and other conditions. This arrangement allows each feeder fund’s trustees to withdraw the feeder fund’s assets from the master fund if they believe doing so is in the shareholders’ best interests. If the trustees withdraw the feeder fund’s assets, they would then consider whether the feeder fund should hire its own investment advisor, invest in a different master fund or take other action.

Other information

To the extent authorized by law, each fund reserves the right to discontinue offering shares at any time, merge, reorganize itself or cease operations and liquidate.

Dividends and taxes

Dividends

Each fund declares dividends daily and pays them monthly. Dividends accrued during a given month are paid on the first business day of the next month or upon the sale of all the fund shares in a shareholder’s account.

Each fund may distribute all or a portion of its capital gains (if any) to the extent required to ensure that the fund maintains its federal tax law status as a regulated investment company. Each fund will also distribute all or a portion of its capital gains to the extent necessary to maintain its share price at $1.00.

Shares of each fund earn dividends on the day they are purchased but do not earn dividends on the day they are sold.

You will receive dividends in additional shares unless you elect to receive them in cash. If you prefer to receive dividends in cash, contact your Financial Advisor (if you purchased your shares through a financial intermediary) or the transfer agent (if you purchased your shares directly).

While each fund declares dividends daily and pays them monthly, the amounts are rounded to the nearest $0.01 on a daily basis with respect to each investor’s fund account. As a result, investors whose fund account balances earn daily dividends that total less than one half a cent on any given day will not accrue any dividends on that day.

Taxes

The dividends that you receive from the funds generally are subject to federal income tax regardless of whether you receive them in additional fund shares or in cash, and are expected to be taxed as ordinary income. Such dividends are not eligible for the reduced rate of tax that may apply to certain qualifying dividends on corporate stock. Dividends paid by the funds are also not expected to qualify as “exempt-interest dividends,” and will not be excludable from gross income by shareholders, because each fund is not expected to invest at least 50% of the value of its total assets in securities the interest on which is excludable from gross income.

Although dividends are generally treated as taxable to you in the year they are paid, dividends declared in October, November or December but paid in January are taxable as if they were paid in December.

Shareholders not subject to tax on their income will not be required to pay tax on amounts distributed to them. If you hold fund shares through a tax-exempt account or plan such as an IRA or 401(k) plan, dividends on your shares generally will not be subject to tax until proceeds are withdrawn from the plan.

Some states and localities do not tax dividends that are attributable to interest on certain government securities under certain circumstances. However, these dividends may be subject to corporate franchise tax in some states. Dividends that are attributable to interest income received by the fund from cash held at the custodian would not qualify for this exemption.

Each fund will tell you annually the character of dividends for tax reporting purposes. You will generally not recognize any gain or loss on the sale or exchange of your fund shares as long as the fund maintains a share price of $1.00.

An additional 3.8% Medicare tax is imposed on certain net investment income (including ordinary dividends and capital gain distributions received from a fund and net gains from redemptions or other taxable dispositions of fund shares) of US individuals, estates and trusts to the extent that such person's "modified adjusted gross income" (in the case of an individual) or "adjusted gross income" (in the case of an estate or trust) exceeds certain threshold amounts.

Each fund may be required to withhold a 24% federal tax on all dividends payable to you

- if you fail to provide the fund or UBS Financial Services Inc. with your correct taxpayer identification number on Form W-9 (for US citizens and resident aliens) or to make required certifications, or

- if you have been notified by the IRS that you are subject to backup withholding.

Taxable distributions to non-US shareholders will generally be subject to a 30% withholding tax (or lower applicable treaty rate). However, certain properly reported distributions paid by the funds that are attributable to "qualified interest income" (generally, interest that would not have been subject to US federal withholding tax at the source if received directly by a non-US shareholder) or short-term capital gain are generally exempt from the 30% withholding tax to the extent the funds properly report such distributions. "Qualified interest income" includes, in general, US source (1) bank deposit interest, (2) short-term original discount, (3) interest (including original issue discount, market discount, or acquisition discount) on an obligation which is in registered form, unless it is earned on an obligation issued by a corporation or partnership in which the funds are a 10-percent shareholder or is contingent interest, and (4) any interest-related dividend from another regulated investment company. Qualified interest income may also include interest with respect to loans that relate to US branches of non-US corporations to the extent such interest is treated as US source under applicable branch interest rules. Non-US source interest income is not eligible for exemption from US federal withholding tax, and distributions of non-US source income will be subject to the 30% US withholding tax unless reduced by an applicable tax treaty.

Each fund is required to withhold US tax (at a 30% rate) on payments of taxable dividends made to certain shareholders that fail to comply (or be deemed compliant) with extensive reporting and withholding requirements designed to inform the US Department of the Treasury of US-owned foreign investment accounts. Shareholders may be requested to provide additional information to the funds to enable the funds to determine whether withholding is required.

The tax consequences to a non-US resident shareholder entitled to claim the benefits of an applicable tax treaty might differ from those described herein. Non-US resident shareholders are advised to consult their own tax advisors with respect to the particular tax consequences to them of investing in the funds. Shares of the fund held by a non-US shareholder at death will be considered situated within the United States and subject to US estate tax.

The above is a general and abbreviated discussion of certain tax considerations, and each investor is advised to consult with his or her own tax advisor. There is additional information on taxes in the funds' SAI.

Disclosure of portfolio holdings and other information

Each fund is a "feeder fund" that invests in securities through an underlying master fund. Each fund and the corresponding master fund have the same investment objective.

Each fund's complete schedule of portfolio holdings for the second and fourth quarters of each fiscal year is filed with the SEC on Form N-CSR. Each fund's Forms N-CSR are available on the SEC's website at <http://www.sec.gov>. Additionally, you may obtain copies of Form N-CSR from the funds upon request by calling 1-800-647 1568. The Form N-CSR for each fund will be posted on the fund's website at <https://www.ubs.com/usmoneymarketfunds>.

Each fund will disclose on UBS AM's website, within five business days after the end of each month, a complete schedule of the related master fund's portfolio holdings and information regarding the weighted average maturity and weighted average life of such master fund. This information will be posted on the UBS website at the following internet address:

<https://www.ubs.com/usmoneymarketfunds>. In addition, each fund will file with the SEC on Form N-MFP, within five business days after the end of each month, more detailed portfolio holdings information. Each fund's Forms N-MFP will be available on the SEC's website; UBS AM's website will also contain a link to these filings. The UBS AM website will also disclose the following information for each fund as of the end of each business day for the previous six months: (1) the percentage of each fund's total assets invested in daily and weekly liquid assets; (2) each fund's daily net inflows and outflows; and (3) each fund's current market-based net asset value per share to four decimal places, which is calculated using current market quotations (or an appropriate substitute that reflects current market conditions). (For purposes of transactions in the shares of each fund, the price for shares will be the net asset value per share, calculated using the amortized cost method to two decimal places as further described in this prospectus and the related SAI.) Investors also may find additional information about each fund at the above referenced UBS website internet address.

Additionally, an abbreviated portfolio holdings report for each of the master funds in which the funds invest is available on a weekly basis. (The abbreviated weekly portfolio holdings report contains less information about each holding.) This information will be posted on the UBS website at the following internet address: <https://www.ubs.com/usmoneymarketfunds>. Under normal circumstances, the abbreviated report will be as of the last business day in a week and is expected to be posted by the Thursday or Friday of the following week. The weekly information will be posted to the website at least one day prior to other public dissemination.

The weekly portfolio holdings information postings will continue to remain available on the website, along with any more current holdings information, at least until the date on which a fund files its portfolio holdings information with the SEC on Forms N-CSR for the period that included the date as of which the website information is current. (For example, a fund files its annual financial statements for its most recent fiscal year ended April 30th with the SEC on Form N-CSR around the beginning of July. Weekly portfolio holdings information for periods ended April 30th could be removed from the website once the annual financial statements are filed, but not until then.)

Please consult the funds' SAI for a description of the policies and procedures that govern disclosure of the funds' portfolio holdings.

Standard Business Continuity Management minimizes the risk and impact of an unplanned disruption of business activities by applying readiness and response plans against a standard set of impact scenarios: Loss of Building; Loss of Critical Technology; Loss of Critical Third Party; or Unavailability of Staff.

Additionally, Enhanced Operational Resilience minimizes the risk and impact of an unplanned disruption on markets and clients, and ensures the safety and soundness of UBS's most important business services. It includes risk mitigation beyond standard BCM scenarios, including cyber-attack.

Furthermore, when business activities are at risk of significant disruption, Crisis Management provides the communication protocols and pre-determined escalation paths to ensure effective response and a managed recovery to meet pre-determined recovery objectives.

The BCR Program covers all UBS business units and locations. It is subject to review by all applicable regulatory authorities.
